Rickenbacker Crew Saved by Rain on Eighth Day Adrift

TEXAN BEGS 'OLD MASTER' FOR WATER---AND GETS IT

Capt. Eddie 'Takes Over' to Buck Up Morale.

(This is the fifth instalment of the story—told here in full for the first time—of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and seven companions and their three weeks' fight for life against the perils of the equatorial Pacific. It is told by Lt. James C. Whittaker of the army transport command, co-pilot of the Flying Fortress which was crashed into the sea Oct. 21 after running out of fuel.)

As a coppery sun shot into the sky on our sixth day adrift we all began to realize the extreme gravity of our situation. It had been almost 120 hours since we had set our Flying Fortress into the sea out of fuel after a take-off accident at Hickam field, Honolulu, had damaged our octant and sent us miles off our course.

In that time we each had eaten about half an orange, a piece of raw fish an inch square, and three minnows. The strain was telling, I noted as I glanced along the three rubber rafts that stood between us and the depths of the equatorial Pacific.

Rick Most Composed.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, whom we had been carrying on a war department mission at the time of the accident, appeared the most composed. His military aide, Col. Hans Adamson, looked depressed and sick. Their raft companion, Pvt. Johnny Bartek, engineer on the plane, looked pretty good. In the smallest raft, Lt. John J. De Angelis, our navigator, and Sergt. Alex Kaczmarzyk, a passenger, were huddled miserably together. Alex looked bad. He had been 45 days in the hospital with yellow jaundice just before the start of the trip.

In ours, the lead raft, Capt. William T. Cherry, our pilot and commander, looked drawn beneath his heavy stubble. Staff Sergt. James W. Reynolds, who had sent SOS calls almost until our plane hit the water, appeared pretty well preserved. My thoughts were somber as I observed the day would be another scorcher.

Felt "Baked Out."

My reaction to lack of water was not so much thirst as dryness. It seemed as tho all the water in me had been baked out. The wet trunks about my head and shoulders helped some, but salt water stings and burns. You don't just want to drink fresh water. You want to wallow in it. You feel you could soak it up by gallons thru the pores.

It was pretty obvious we were out of the way of either patrol planes or ships; in one of those culs de sac of the Pacific that may go years without a visit from ship or plane. The hopes stirred within me at last night's prayer service had vanished in the face of what I was fond of calling "hard reality." Yet I joined passively in that night's

TOMORROW—MEN IN RICK'S PARTY CATCH A SHARK

Lt. James C. Whittaker will tell in tomorrow's instalment how, on the ninth day adrift, Capt. William T. Cherry caught a shark on an unbaited hook, jerked it into his rubber raft, and stabbed the flailing fish to death with his sheath knife. And Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and the other flyers had raw shark steak.

Capt. W. T. Cherry.

On the 10th day, Lt. Whittaker relates, the little party used up the last of its drinking water,

He tells how the men's courage again began to break as they faced the suffering of possible death from thirst, and how once more the combination of prayer and Capt. Rickenbacker's morale-boosting "cussing" stiffened their determination to win thru.

WHEN HE COMES BACK

An Indian Sits and Thinks—Takes a Stand

Three Indians from the Rosebud reservation in South Dakota arrived at the office of Indian affairs in the Merchandise Mart yesterday for a novel discussion. They want government permission for the reservation's 1,342 families to turn back to the tribe their million and a half acres of individually owned land.

The three were Dan Hollow Horn Bear, once tribal chief, now chairman of the board of directors of Rosebud Sioux Tribe, Inc.; Clement Valandra, tribal representative, and Steven Brave Bird, member of the tribe's old council.

Valandra and Hollow Horn Bear took turns explaining their plan, but Brave Bird sat silently in a corner.

Allotted 3 Million Acres.

More than a half century ago the government allotted the Rosebud Sioux tribe three million acres of South Dakota land. Within a few years the tribe had sold a million and a half acres of the land.

So the government, discouraged with community ownership even among red men, passed a law giving the land to the individual Indians. Each received 160 acres which he could sell only with government permission. This was hard to get, with the result that death was almost the only cause of a change of ownership.

That would have been all right except most Indians left no wills. Thus the courts divided the land among all relatives. The number of relatives and the death rate being what they are, land ownership got into a mess.

How the Plan Works.

The plan to end the muddle goes like this: Since the tribe was incorporated five years ago under a new law [so it could borrow $110,000 from the government at 1 per cent and lend it to individual Indians at 4 per cent for farm uses], why couldn't the individual Indians assign their land holdings to the tribal corporation, which would place a dollar and cents value on the land and return stock certificates?

Then if an Indian wanted land the corporation would assign him an acreage in accordance with his stock holdings.

"We think it is a fine plan," said Dan Hollow Horn Bear. Clement Valandra said the same. But Steven Brave Bird kept quiet. Asked if he had a comment, he said:

"Nope! Anti-New Deal."

BRITISH MP ANSWERS BEVIN—'ENGLAND FED BY DOPES AND DOLES'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Warnings by Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin and the archbishop of Canterbury that the people will have to content themselves after the war with less liberty than formerly were answered today by John Wardlaw-Milne, Conservative member of parliament.

Wardlaw-Milne told an audience at Leeds that "private enterprise is the essence of democracy." He described as "the greatest danger of all" the impression that all that's required is state control and nations can afford to destroy private enterprise.

"Of latter years, by easy living, we have grown weaker in this individualistic outlook," he said. "Rationalization, nationalization, organization—all have led to a state of life in which we are fed by dopes and doles."

Playing Nurse to 4 Costs U. S. $900 a Month

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Children are in the minority at the federal day nursery school just opened in Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley's home town of Paducah, Ky., according to complaints which reached the capital today.

There are two especially trained teachers, two maids, a janitor, and a cook, Paducah citizens assert, to care for the four children enrolled.

The day nursery was established to care for the children of war workers as Paducah's part of a 6 million dollar federal project, according to State Sen. Henry Ward, a Democrat. But there weren't enough children in need of nursery care to fill the town's original day nursery, operated by the Paducah Mothers' club as an agency of the community chest.

The nursery was nevertheless established. Sen. Ward estimated it will cost $900 a month to operate it, in a statement saying:

"The mere fact that federal funds are available is no reason why Paducah should grab them. If every community selfishly seeks its share of federal funds, government spending mounts on an upward spiral. Such nonessential spending will continue until the people make it clear they want that kind of foolishness stopped."

Press Must Be Free, Says Realty Chief

BY AL CHASE.

Next to winning the war, the most important thing for this and future generations is an absolutely free press, Cyrus Crane Willmore, St. Louis builder and developer, told several hundred realtors last night in the Drake hotel when he was instaled as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Cyrus C. Willmore.

He said that the more than 200,000 workers in the 16,000 realty offices affiliated with the various real estate boards composing the national association must "stand ready to fight for a free press."

"Second only to winning the war, we must preserve free private enterprise," Willmore said. "Without free enterprise, this war would have been lost months ago.

Home Ownership Bulwark.

"The bulwark of democracy always has been home ownership, or at least it was until the days of the national recovery administration. Since NRA, the greatest hope for democracy has been a free press. So long as we have a free press we'll be able to have free enterprise.

"Should the press be stifled and controled by government, the America of the last 150 years literally will have flown out the window. Only an absolutely free, unbridled, uncontroled press can save free enterprise, initiative, and opportunity for all."

Willmore said that Americans would endure a lot of rationing. "But when government seeks to ration a man's right to own a home it's time to do something about it," he asserted.

URGES VIGOROUS PRESS.

New York, Jan. 15 [Special].—The United States needs a vigorous press, liberal censorship, and its best weapons to enable the army and navy to work harmoniously and successfully with the Australians toward the defeat of Japan, Frank J. Cuhel said today on his arrival from Sydney, where he was a correspondent for the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Cuhel spoke at a luncheon given by Miller McClintock, Mutual president.

LEADERS AGREE ON RETURN TO JOBS MONDAY

Carry Out Demand of WLB.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—United Mine Workers headquarters announced tonight that a meeting of anthracite local union leaders voted unanimously to urge the return of all strikers to their jobs on Monday.

The announcement was made by a spokesman for John L. Lewis, international president of the union, after Lewis and the anthracite group had conferred for two hours and a half.

The conference followed hard upon the decision of the war labor board not to rule on the merits of the miners' grievances until they had returned to work and exhausted all methods of settlement under their contract, short of work stoppage.

Motion Is Passed.

Lewis' spokesman said that Leo Filip of Plymouth, Pa., submitted this motion at the meeting with Lewis:

"I move that it is the sense of this meeting that we all return and tell our membership to put the mines back to work next Monday."

The motion was seconded by Charles Buber of Nanticoke and was carried unanimously, the UMW spokesman said.

Other local union leaders were quoted as saying that they would return home and order meetings of the miners tomorrow and Sunday.

Agrees with Lewis Stand.

The war labor board's decision not to rule on the merits of the controversy followed a four hour hearing in which Lewis, breathing defiance, told the board he had no authority either to alter the dues constitutionally fixed by his union or to alter the wages of a collective bargaining agreement.

Lewis promised the leaders present that in the negotiations for a new agreement he would fight with them for "a wholesome increase" notwithstanding the board's "little steel" formula or anything else which stood in the way of their making a livelihood.

Andrew Yevchak, president of the tri-district general mine committee, had demanded the board intervene, declaring there would be a general strike in the hard coal field Monday unless he could take home word that the board would consider the issues—a $2 a day increase in wages and elimination of a 50 cent increase in monthly dues.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, called the tri-district committee an "unauthorized, self-constituted, constitutionally illegal group" and declared Yevchak and his "outlaw associates" in "this mad enterprise" would be held to accountability under union laws.

Meet with Cabinet.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15 (AP).—Company and union representatives will confer with the cabinet at Ottawa tomorrow afternoon in an attempt to settle the strike which has left 13,500 Canadian CIO steel employés idle, halting two-thirds of Canada's steel production. Practically the entire cabinet is expected to be present.

Allies Break Thru Jap Line in New Guinea

ALLIED HDQ., Australia, Jan. 16 [Saturday]—(AP).—An allied breakthru at Sanananda Point, New Guinea, in which at least 152 Japanese were killed in one day's fighting Thursday, was reported in today's noon communique by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Sanananda, immediately northwest of Buna on the northeast New Guinea coast, is the only spot in all the Papuan peninsula still held by a fragment of a Jap army which once totaled 15,000. There jungle fortifications plus swampy conditions caused by recent rains had slowed up the clean-up drive.

End Three Day Assault.

A spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters did not amplify the official report which said that arms and equipment were captured after the forward positions were destroyed.

Far up the coast at Mubo, which is south and inland from Salamaua, another allied force concluded a three day assault in which "heavy" casualties were inflicted and the Japanese area headquarters destroyed. Yesterday's communique listed Jap dead there as totaling at least 116.

Planes Hit Jap Bases.

Bombers meanwhile struck far and wide, blasting targets in the Tanimbar Islands, in the Arafura sea, harbor installations at Rabaul, New Britain, and supply dumps at Lae, New Guinea.

A Liberator on reconnaissance shot down one of two intercepting fighters over Celebes, in the Dutch East Indies, and near Lae another Liberator knocked down at least two out of six enemy fighters.

11 U. S. Planes Land in Lisbon; Pilots Interned

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 15 (AP).—Twelve American Airacobra fighter planes, beset by storms lashing the Iberian peninsula, were reported to have landed in Portugal today, 11 at the Lisbon airport, and an armada of 50 others was sighted winging over this neutral country toward the Mediterranean war theater.

The crews of the 11 planes at Lisbon at once surrendered to Portuguese military authorities, who arranged for their internment and the storage of their planes for the duration.

Bomber Continues South.

A four motored bomber the planes were escorting flew on to the south. A 12th fighter was said to have landed at Aveiro, in north Portugal.

[The German radio described the planes as "chasers" and said that they were seized by Portuguese authorities and that the crews were interned. The German account said the aircraft landed about 3 p. m. because of fuel shortage, and that 33 airmen were interned.]

The 11 planes landed at Portela Sacavem, the Lisbon airport, six miles up the Tagus river, as severe electrical storms affected a widespread area, causing crop damage and property loss in a score of villages and hamlets in north Portugal.

BRITISH PLANE CRASHES.

A Madrid dispatch also said a two motored British plane crashed on Spanish soil at La Banqueta, near La Linea, across the bay from Gibraltar, and that two of its crew members were injured.

BIZERTE PASSED UP TO SAVE MEN, ADMIRAL ASSERTS

LONDON, Jan. 16 [Saturday]—(AP).—The allies could have seized the Tunisian port of Bizerte at the beginning of the North African operations, but their losses would have been heavy, Adm. Andrew Browne Cunningham, commander of the allied North African fleet, was quoted today as saying by the Daily Mail correspondent in Algiers.

"We should have had to reckon on the loss of a battleship, several cruisers, and very likely 25 per cent of the merchant vessels," the admiral said. "It clearly would have been a great advantage if Bizerte could have been secured that way by direct attack, but on consideration it was decided to take the less hazardous course."

BROWN TO FACE HODGEPODGE OF RULES BY OPA

Even Staff Puzzled by Many Orders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—When Prentiss M. Brown, who has been nominated by the President to succeed Leon Henderson as price and rationing chief, takes over his new job, probably next week, he will face an assortment of price regulations which even his own OPA staff will not be able to unscramble for him. Brown, former Democratic senator from Michigan, was defeated for re-election last November.

The senate banking and currency committee today unanimously approved his nomination. There were no objections presented to the committee. It had been reported that Sen. Homer Ferguson [R., Mich.], who defeated Brown, might oppose the nomination, but Ferguson tonight said he will not announce his stand until the time comes to vote in the senate.

Inquiry at the OPA offices disclosed today that the original general maximum price regulation last May placing ceilings based on March, 1942, prices, has been followed by so many revisions, amendments, and exemptions, that OPA officials themselves cannot give a complete picture of the program.

[Dealers blame OPA bungling for meat shortage; oil users warned to convert burners to coal. Turn to page 8.]

Price Ceilings on Smelts.

The OPA today issued price regulation No. 303, which established specific dollars and cents ceilings on prices of Canadian smelts sold at wholesale in this country.

Between the time that the first general maximum price order—fixing prices at March levels—was issued and today's order on Canadian smelts, the OPA has turned out 301 separate price regulations, and thousands—nobody knows just how many—amendments to the same regulations.

Thousands of items—nobody knows how many—have been left under March maximums.

Ceiling Price Systems Changed.

In other cases—nobody knows how many—ceiling prices based on individual retailers' March levels, have been scrapped. For some items, a flat increase over the previous individual ceiling has been permitted. For other items, the individual ceilings have been replaced by a so-called cost plus markup system whereby the retailer is permitted to add a certain percentage to his cost in computing his ceiling price.

In still other instances, the OPA has required merchants—particularly wholesalers and manufacturers—to "roll back" their prices from the March, 1942, level to some earlier base period to eliminate price squeezes on retailers.

One result of this myriad of price controls has been widespread confusion among business men trying to keep up with almost daily changes in the regulations they are supposed to be observing.

General Overhauling Promised.

Henderson last month took cognizance of this confusion and announced that the entire program for controling food prices, and probably other lines, is being overhauled.

He announced that food price regulations are being simplified and standardized. Under the proposed setup, individual ceilings based on March levels will be replaced on all grocery items by fixed markups. A similar regulation will be applied to wholesalers' prices.

Under this system, Henderson said, local OPA offices will take on the job of computing ceiling prices for retailers, and storekeepers will be relieved from filing voluminous reports showing their revised ceilings every time a price amendment is issued.

What Brown's views are on price control methods have not been disclosed. He reportedly agreed to take the job of price and rationing boss on the understanding that the maintenance of a standing army of OPA inspectors would be abolished and greater reliance would be placed on voluntary compliance with price and rationing regulations.

8 DAYS ADRIFT; THIRST TELLING ON RICK'S PARTY

Texan Begs 'Old Master' —and Gets Water.

service after an agonizing day. And in a few minutes something happened that made me wonder greatly.

When Chips Are Down.

Col. Adamson read from Johnny Bartek's pocket Testament and we all prayed for food. Cherry repeated his favorite text about food and drink being provided on the morrow. "Always tomorrow!" I thought bitterly. "What is this; a come-on game?" But Cherry was praying. The sturdy Texan always addressed the Lord, with deference, as "Old Master."

"Old Master," he was saying, "we know this isn't a guarantee that we'll eat in the morning. But we're in an awful fix, as you know. We sure are counting on a little something by day after tomorrow at least. See what you can do for us, Old Master."

That is the way we all talked to God; just as we would talk to any one we respected and from whom we craved a boon. We made it simple; no "thees" or "thous." There was nothing irreverent or kidding about it. Men don't kid when the chips are down.

Cherry finished his talk to God and fired off our evening flare in the hope something might happen. And it certainly did, tho not anything we could have forecast. The flare's propulsion charge was faulty and the flaming ball rose only 50 feet into the air, then fell back among the rafts.

It hissed and zigzagged around the water, blazing a brilliant red. One contact with a raft airchamber would have meant the finish of somebody. The dazzling light illuminated the ocean for hundreds of yards and in the depths we could see barracuda playing havoc with a school of fish attracted by the glare.

Two Leap Into Raft.

Two fair sized specimens, pursued by the barracuda, broke water and leapt into our raft. We had just time to grab them when the flare sputtered and died. The moon came out and shed a ghostly light on the ocean. Fish were for breakfast, but I was too puzzled to sleep.

Tho our seventh day opened with fish tidbits, our thirst raged on and our mental state grew lower; Col. Adamson's more than the others. I saw Rickenbacker looking sharply about him, especially at the colonel. I thought once he was about to speak, but he didn't.

Col. Adamson sat, head bowed, in a sort of sorrowful daze. Then, in midafternoon, he suddenly raised himself over the side of the raft and slid into the water. Quick as a flash, Rick had him. We all helped push him back into the boat. Looked at broadly, it was a brave thing he tried to do. He thought that if he were out of the way there would be more of everything for the others. But it made us all pretty mad at the time.

It was then that Rick took over. I'll not forget the things he said. They would scorch this paper. But from then on, woe betide the man who turned quitter or did anything to lower the morale of the others. That man Rickenbacker has got a rough tongue in his head. And he's not bashful!

Joins in Prayer Service.

We passed the rest of the day in prickling pain under our coats of salt, the night in wet dreariness and the next afternoon in scalding heat. I joined a little more wholeheartedly in the prayer service. I was convinced that no human agency was going to save us. I found I could say more than half the Lord's Prayer now without stumbling along behind the others. I will remember this particular service—and what followed—forever.

"Our Father, who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name. . . ."

Johnny Bartek's voice rose youthful and clear above the colonel's muttered words and Cherry's Texas drawl. I could hear my own voice, mumbling on past the places where the others paused. The prayer finished, Cherry addressed the Lord in his forthright fashion:

"Old Master, we called on You for food and You delivered. We ask You now for water. We've done the best we could. If You don't make up Your mind to help us pretty soon, I guess that's just about all there'll be to it. It looks like the next move is up to You, Old Master."

A Petition to God.

I think now that that prayer, despite its informal wording, has just about everything in it a prayer should have. It presents a petition to God and at the same time it expresses resignation to God's will. Finally it implies the belief—the faith—that the petition will be granted.

We said the Lord's Prayer again. Cherry hoisted his undershirt sail and the rafts strung out in a line. I now noticed a darkening cloud off to our left. As I watched a bluish curtain unrolled from the cloud to the sea. It was rain—and moving toward us!

"Here she is!" Cherry shouted. "Thanks, Old Master!" Another minute and we were being deluged by sheets of cold water that splashed into our parched mouths and sluiced the salt off our burned and stinging bodies.

Wave Capsizes Raft.

Almost immediately we began thinking of the future. Our only storage facilities were our bulbous life jackets, which for obvious reasons are called Mae Wests. But the valve tubes opening into them were very small. We therefore hit on this plan:

We soaked and wrung out our shirts until all the salt was washed out of them. Then we saturated them again and wrung the water into our mouths. It was easy to deposit it into the Mae Wests thru the tube, closing the valve afterward. Not as sanitary as it might be? In our fix you don't think of those things; I didn't until weeks afterward.

The rain lashed down nearly an hour, soothing our bodies and quenching our thirst. Then, as tho the Lord wanted to remind us He can take away as well as give, a giant wave swept up from nowhere and capsized our raft. We lost our four remaining flares and all three Very pistols.

The only things saved were one empty flare shell and Cherry's Mae West, which fortunately took on no salt water. Our hoard of more than a quart was safe!

A Prayer for Deliverance

Gary Sheahan, Tribune staff artist, interprets a dramatic moment as Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and his companions wait for rescue in the Pacific. Capt. William T. Cherry is praying for deliverance of the men adrift in rubber rafts after their plane was forced down. This is an episode from today's instalment of Lt. James C. Whittaker's thrilling story of the adventure.

British Children to Get Extra Candy After Blitz

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Extra candy—but only for children at rest centers and only after an air raid—may be issued by local authorities, the food ministry announced today.

POLICE SHIFTED; DES PLAINES ST. SHAKEUP SEVERE

Eighty-five police officers and men, nearly one-fourth from the Desplaines street station, were transferred late yesterday by Commissioner Allman. Ten others were placed on the pension disability list. Of the 85 shifted, 9 are lieutenants, 13 are sergeants, and 63 are patrolmen and detectives. The transfers were effective at 12:01 a. m. today.

Five sergeants, eight detectives, and six uniformed men were removed from the Desplaines street station out of a total force there of 154. The station normally has 11 sergeants and 18 detectives. The 19 transfers represented one of the most thoro shakeups in one station in years.

Lieutenants transferred are Edwin C. Johnson from Cragin to Woodlawn, Ralph A. Weaver from Englewood to Albany Park, Fred B. Kelly from Woodlawn to Marquette, Walter L. McGloon from Austin to Fillmore street, Joseph D. Fallon from Fillmore to Austin, Joseph Vojtech from Marquette to Chicago Lawn, Michael Cleary from Hudson to Englewood, John Scherping from Albany Park to Cragin, and John J. Canning from Chicago Lawn to Hudson avenue.

Sergeants transferred from Desplaines are Charles B. Moore to Deering, Joseph T. Gilfeather to Cragin, James Branigan to New City, James H. Frawley to Town Hall, and Joseph S. O'Malley to Gresham. Sergeants transferred to Desplaines are William V. Palmer from Cragin, John J. Cogger from New City, Bartholomew J. Walsh from Town Hall, and James McMahon from Gresham. Other sergeants shifted are Stephen Dunne from Chicago Lawn to East Side, Charles W. Mullaney from East Side to Englewood, James J. Gortland from Deering to the detective bureau, and Michael Newell from East Side to Chicago Lawn.

The only comment from Commissioner Allman's office was that the transfer was "for the good of the service."

JURORS PONDER FATE OF WOMAN IN INFANT THEFT

Took Boy to Soothe Him, She Testifies.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

The fate of Mrs. Anne Tyrrell Lussier, charged with kidnaping infant Gary Botsford, was in the hands of a jury of eight women and four men in the Lake county Circuit court of Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan, last night.

The jurors retired to deliberate at 5:15 p. m. and after midnight had given no indication of whether they were nearing a verdict. The closing minutes of the trial heard Harry A. Hall, state's atorney, review the case and ask for a conviction.

Before that Mrs. Lussier, describing herself as an expectant mother, testified in her own behalf. Speaking in a precise monotone, the defendant told of an unhappy childhood and a bitter marriage that led, she said, to her kidnaping of the Botsford child.

Freshly powdered and with heavily pencilled eyebrows making two surprised arches over her petulant blue eyes, Mrs. Lussier stared at the jury, mostly parents, who will decide whether the theft of baby Gary from his buggy in front of a downtown variety store on Nov. 24 was abduction. The jury also will set the penalty between one year and life if it returns a verdict of guilty.

First Married at 18.

"My mother died when I was four years old," Mrs. Lussier testified. "My father married again when I was five or six. My stepmother was unkind to me. Later I was adopted and brought up by another family. I never had a real family of my own. My first marriage at 18 years old to Walter Tyrrell was an unhappy experience. He was always drunk and I lost two babies."

The baby clothes, in which she dressed Gary after having burned the blue play suit and corduroy bonnet put on him by his young mother, Mrs. Reuben S. Botsford of Waukegan, had been purchased for her own expected child, she said.

"At the time I picked up Gary from his buggy to comfort him because he was crying, I myself was expecting a baby. I still am. I only picked him up to soothe him and I walked a little way with him. Before I noticed it I had gone several blocks and I didn't return him because I was afraid I'd put him in the wrong buggy."

Tells of Baby in Bag.

Without a flicker of nervousness, Mrs. Lussier stepped down from the stand and demonstrated to the court how she placed Gary in the large, zippered handbag so that he would rest easily and not smother. The baby had been in the partially opened handbag at the time of Mrs. Lussier's capture by the Zion police on Nov. 25.

Mrs. Lussier's physical and mental condition prior and subsequent to the theft of Gary was the main subject of two doctors called by Paul M. La Rose, defense attorney. According to Dr. Samuel L. Keller of Waukegan, Mrs. Lussier had signs of a "possible pregnancy" in August. She was found to have physical weakness but good mental balance by Dr. George A. Mosby, psychiatrist of the Veterans' hospital in North Chicago, who examined her twice in December.

A FARMER RUNS AMOK OVER U. S. RED TAPE; 2 DIE

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 15 [Special].—Believed driven to distraction by a stream of government questionnaires and blanks, Arthur Ruchoft, 58 years old, a farmer living near Schoolcraft, killed himself today after running amok with a hammer, fatally beating his aged mother-in-law, and seriously injuring his wife and son, according to Sheriff Otto Buder.

The victims were Mrs. Minnie Beebe, 81, his mother-in-law, who died tonight in a Kalamazoo hospital; Irene, 59, his wife, given only an even chance to live, and Lyle, 20, his son, less seriously injured. A hired man returned to the home and found all three unconscious and Ruchoft dead of a charge from a shotgun still in his hands.

Buder said neighbors told him the farmer previously had threatened suicide over government red tape which complicated his farming and was "getting him down."

SLACKS WIN O.K. OF COURT UNLESS GARB IS DISGUISE

Evelyn Bross, 19 years old, 2754 Jackson boulevard, charged with violating a city ordinance by appearing publicly in men's clothing, was placed under psychiatric supervision until July 15 at a hearing before Judge J. M. Braude in Women's court yesterday. Judge Braude explained that there could be no objection to women wearing slacks as long as the garb wasn't used for impersonation purposes.

As an example of women's ability to wear mannish attire and still be feminine, Judge Braude pointed out another defendant, Mrs. Theodora Fitzpatrick, 24, of Tucson, Ariz., who was in slacks. "There," he said, "is a woman who is wearing a tailored mannish suit, but no one in the world would think she is a man. Her hair style is a woman's, and her mannerisms are entirely feminine."

Mrs. Fitzpatrick's case was dismissed.

BROWDER'S SLAP AT THE TRIBUNE CAPS CONSPIRACY

Red Aids of New Dealers Beaten in Election.

(This is the sixth in a series of articles telling of the attitude toward and treatment of the press of the nation by the New Deal. Subsequent articles will tell of the New Deal's attitude toward The Chicago Tribune and other newspapers.)

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

When Earl Browder, jailbird national boss of the Communist party, came to these parts just before the election and tried to persuade the people of Illinois to defeat Sen. Wayland Brooks, he was capping the climax to a conspiracy.

That conspiracy was aimed at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. THE TRIBUNE was backing Brooks, and, incidentally, the senator was reelected by a smashing plurality of more than 200,000 votes.

To the Reds THE TRIBUNE is anathema. This is because the paper keeps up an unending fight to preserve the republican form of government while the final objective of the Communist and the other groups, of course, is to change the American government to an alien brand of their own.

Reds Join Political Cabal.

This conspiracy of the Communists is part of the larger cabal stemming from political Washington and an eastern international social set, which are at one with the Communists in trying to change our way of life but who may disagree with the Communists as to the alien way to be set up. To certain elements of the government also THE TRIBUNE is anathema. This is because the paper has stanchly criticized fumbling of various phases of the war program and demanded the removal of incompetent, decrepit officials.

These cliques are taking advantage of and may even have a part in instigating the anti-trust suit against the Associated Press, an action designed to benefit a mouthpiece newspaper for the Washington régime. These radical groups welcome the anti-trust suit as an important step in their campaign to subject news agencies of the press to political control.

Under the respectable cover of the Russian war effort the Communists have been conducting their part of the "get The Tribune" campaign in various devious ways besides the frontal attacks of Browder and the Red newspaper, Daily Worker. They have been operating from behind the scenes with window dressing "front" organizations, the left wing press, stooges, and Washington fellow travelers.

Hit New High in Slander.

Most important among the "front" groups was the so-called Union for Democratic Action, which was the machinery set up for the purpose of "purging" certain anti-Red, pro-American, and isolationist members of congress. The purge campaign wound up in an ignominious flop but the U. D. A. managed to hit a new high in slander.

One of the products of the U. D. A. was a scurrilous pamphlet attacking THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This was published by the Chicago branch, but the national literature of the U. D. A. also contained abundant anti-Tribune material.

U. D. A.'s research director was one Lewis Corey, whose real name was Louis Fraina. Fraina is a Communist of long standing. He was one of the first Red editors in this country and served on the executive committee of the Communist International.

Another leading sponsor of the organization was J. B. S. Hardman. Hardman's real name was Jacob Salutsky and he was a veteran Communist leader.

Leaders Affiliated with Reds.

Eleven of the 50 leaders of the U. D. A. had public records of affiliation with the Communist party and a majority of the rest of them belonged to such groups as the American League Against War and Fascism, which later changed its name to the League for Peace and Democracy. Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle pronounced the league a Communist "front" organization in his opinion on the question of deporting Harry Bridges, alien radical west coast union leader.

Rex Stout, goat-bearded author, was a director and financial sponsor of the U. D. A. Stout urged a meeting of self-styled writers in New York on May 18 to whip up letter writing campaigns against THE TRIBUNE and other pro-American papers.

Other members of the U. D. A. were George and Dorothy Schiff Backer, owners of the New York Post; Morris Ernst, counsel for the Post, who were principals in a particularly revolting attempt to "smear" Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee and a leading pre-war noninterventionist.

Ernst Legal Adviser of PM.

Ernst is one of the legal advisers for the New York paper PM, which did all it could to promote the U. D. A. PM, known as the uptown edition of the Daily Worker, is staffed by radical writers. The real author of PM's left wing policy is Dr. Gregory Zilboorg, fashionable Park avenue psychiatrist and a former Russian revolutionary.

Also backing the purge efforts and the conspiracy against THE TRIBUNE were the two little magazine pals of the Reds, The Nation and the New Republic. Many of their editors and writers have had numerous affiliations with the "front" groups for the Communist party. Scarcely a week goes by without the two magazines indulging in some new name-calling of THE TRIBUNE.

In Washington the principal stooge for the Reds has been Archibald MacLeish, the curly-locked Harvard poet who for a while was trying to dictate to the nation's newspapers as head of the now extinct office of facts and figures.

Failed Before AP Meeting.

MacLeish journeyed to New York last April at the request of Atty. Gen. Biddle and made a vicious attack on THE TRIBUNE before the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the annual meeting of the Associated Press. One of his objectives was the defeat of Col. R. R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, for reelection as an AP director, but Col. McCormick won overwhelmingly.

The Harvard poet has been the darling of the Red intellectuals for years. A leading light of his office, Malcolm Cowley, was forced to resign his high paying O. F. F. job in March after Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities revealed Cowley had a history of 72 connections with the Communist party and its front organizations.

The Daily Worker had an account in the editions of June 8, 1937, of the election of MacLeish as vice president of the League of American Writers, which had evolved from the League of Revolutionary Writers. The league was sponsored as another "front" for the Reds.

Earl Browder, who had his prison sentence for passport fraud shaved by Presidential commutation, was the guest speaker at the league's meeting in 1937. MacLeish introduced Browder to the members.

The Daily Worker's reporter wrote: "It was a genuinely people's front meeting, and at such a meeting it was significant and proper that Browder spoke as a Communist. By doing so he gave a tone and necessary sense of direction the meeting might not otherwise have had."

MacLeish also espoused the cause of the "Loyalists" in the Spanish civil war and was active in the affairs of several Spanish aid groups which were promoted by the Communists in this country. He wrote an article for the New Masses, Communist magazine, in 1937 wherein he argued at considerable length a justification of this association with Communists in the Spanish "Loyalist" cause.

Midwesterner Joins Attack.

A strange bedfellow of Browder in his attack on THE TRIBUNE is Emmanuel Philip Adler, owner of midwestern newspapers. Adler follows the Communist line against THE TRIBUNE in his papers which are known as the Lee syndicate and are: Ottumwa, Ia., Courier; Mason City, Ia., Globe-Gazette; Davenport, Ia., Democrat-Leader; Davenport, Ia., Times; Kewanee, Ill., Star Courier; La Crosse, Wis., Tribune & Leader Press, and Madison, Wis., State Journal.

In Chicago the Communist drive against THE TRIBUNE has been headed by Morris Childs. Childs, Illinois secretary of the Communist party, is actually named "Chilovsky." He was born in Kiev, Russia, and has been masquerading around under the alibi of Childs for years. Another alias he has used is "Morris Summers."

Like so many of his mates, Childs has had a number of brushes with the police. This Russian Red agitator spends a lot of his time and oratory attacking the patriotism of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and attempting to dictate to the people of Illinois whom they should or should not elect to public office.

ALL TAXPAYERS WARNED TO FILE INCOME RETURN

No Proposed Plan Will Excuse Payment.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—The nation's taxpayers were warned today that plans for congressional action on a withholding tax or a pay-as-you-go plan will in no way affect their obligation to file an income tax return by March 15 and pay "at least" the first quarterly instalment of the levies against 1942 income.

Later, it was indicated, in a statement issued by Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, and Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the senate finance committee, taxes collected during the balance of the year may apply against the 1943 income, but that is a matter to be decided when pending legislation is acted upon.

Meanwhile, it was reported, a plan to limit tax free purchases—a modification of the sales tax principle—thru the issuance of coupons to every wage earner is being considered by leaders in the house and senate. It would be designed to meet the administration opposition to a general sales tax which has been criticised on the ground that it would impose an unjust hardship upon families in the smaller income brackets.

Coupons to Cover Exemptions.

Under the plan, the coupons would cover the tax exemptions, probably about $500 per year, being submitted with each purchase until exhausted. After that every purchase without coupons would carry a tax as in the regular sales tax procedure. It was suggested that this device would serve as a curb on luxury purchases discouraging the buying of nonessentials, with citizens faced with a choice between paying a heavy tax or using up their coupons.

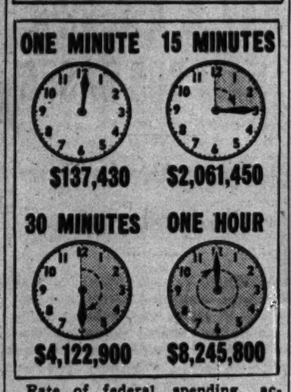
Several legislators suggested that the plan will come in for attention when congress begins trying to find new sources for the 16 billion dollars in additional revenue asked by President Roosevelt in his budget message. Also to be considered are a spending tax and compulsory savings.

Correct Misconception of Plan.

The warning to taxpayers to be prepared to file their returns on time in the regular manner was issued, according to the leaders, to correct a misconception in the minds of many wage earners. It was explained that the wide publicity being given to the drive in congress to place Americans on a current basis in payment of their income levies—rather than always being a year behind—has led to a belief that they will not be called upon to pay anything on last year's income.

While it is true that the Ruml plan, which has many supporters in both the house and senate, calls for suspending the 1942 taxes, the wage earners will be required to pay as always, the difference being that the amounts collected will apply against this year's income should congress adopt the proposal.

Golden Moments



Rate of federal spending, according to last month's figures:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—War expenditures at the close of 1942 were running at the rate of $137,430 a minute, a report by the war production board showed today. This was nearly 31 times the July, 1940, average when war outlays averaged $4,458 a minute.

Total war expenditures in 1942, WPB reported, amounted to $52,406,000,000 or 3.8 times the 1941 outlay of $13,895,000,000. The totals include costs of munitions, war construction, and pay rolls for the army, navy, and civilian war agencies.

War outlays in December amounted to $6,125,000,000, an increase of only two-tenths of 1 per cent over the November total. The WPB has estimated that war costs this year will rise to 90 billion dollars, which is 23 per cent higher than the December rate of spending.

Survivor of Hornet Sinking Returns to Navy Today

Carl Henrikson, 24 years old, recovering from a shrapnel wound in the scalp, will return to duty in the navy today after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henrikson Sr., 5440 New England avenue. Henrikson said he had gone thru eight Pacific battles and was wounded when the carrier Hornet was sunk. Last spring Henrikson, son of a Chicago fireman, was cited for heroism and was promoted to petty officer second class after he put out a fire on the carrier.

Priorities Established for Teletype Service

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—The board of war communications established today a system of priorities for teletypewriter communication similar to that for long distance telephone calls. The order is effective Feb. 1. Priority will be given to messages which require "immediate transmission for war purposes or to safeguard life or property."

SUBS SINK 4 AXIS SHIPS AND SHELL SHORES OF ITALY

Allied Planes Blast Foe in Tunisia and Libya.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—Strong and effective attacks along the Mediterranean sea front by British submarines which sank four axis ships and probably three more, and shelled the southern shore of the Italian mainland highlighted the North African campaign today.

Attacks by allied planes on both the Tunisian and Libyan ends of the line were announced. Aground, no action of consequence was reported from Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's allied headquarters.

The new successes in the unending allied war of attrition against axis shipping were disclosed by the British admiralty.

Capture Ship's Crew.

Three small supply and ammunition ships went down under British torpedoes. Three other cargo ships, one of them a large vessel whose forward part was blown off, were hard hit and believed sunk.

A submarine under the command of Comm. Ben Bryant crippled an axis minesweeper with gunfire, took off her crew as prisoners and then torpedoed and sank her.

Another submarine surfaced and shelled a railway bridge on the southern Italian coast.

In the air war, allied North African headquarters announced that American Flying Fortresses attacking the eastern Tunisian supply ports of Sousse and Sfax had left the harbor areas aflame, while Marauders attacked railroad lines and highways along the coastal road at Mahares, southwest of Sfax. Two axis planes were shot down; four allied craft were lost.

Blast Libya Air Fields.

In Libya, it was announced, American and South African R. A. F. bombers assaulted enemy camps, air fields, and transport. Particularly hard hit were two enemy airdromes west of the Wadi Zem Zem on the Tripolitanian coast. Eight axis fighter planes were shot down and 12 others damaged, but the enemy's defenses were strong and 13 allied pilots were said to be missing.

There was again no report of activity by the British 8th army which has been pursuing Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa corps.

Despite its mounting losses, the axis was said by military observers here still to be getting strong forces into North Africa. The impression prevailed in some quarters that the next big developments would be in Tripolitania rather than Tunisia, where the opposing land forces have been long weatherbound.

The French in Tunisia reported brisk patrol activity in the region southwest of Pont du Fahs, where both Berlin and Rome claimed the repulse of strong allied thrusts.

Wounded Yanks Find Nuns Angels of Mercy in Tunisia

WITH U. S. FORCES IN TUNISIA, Jan. 12 [Delayed]—(AP).—White clad nuns who operate a hospital in a small French town along the central Tunisian front have proved true angels of mercy to many wounded and ill American and British soldiers.

Lt. Joseph Freilich.

When American medical men approached them for permission to use a room in the hospital for diagnosis and emergency treatment, the nuns responded by turning over the entire first floor.

"Their kindness has helped us save lives," said Capt. Gustave Stockness of Elizabeth, N. J., commander of the medical unit. "Ordinarily we have to set up in tents."

Members of the medical unit put in 12 hours a day or more and remain on call at all hours. Among them is Lt. Joseph Freilich, 2300 North Lincoln Park West, Chicago.

The operating room with blacked out windows enables the doctors to handle emergency cases at all hours.

Also Provide Laundry.

The nuns also provided laundry equipment for the soldiers and paid for them to set up a delousing unit.

Soldiers journey 15 miles or more to the hospital for hot showers, the rarest of luxuries for a front line fighter.

In the hospital wards are soldiers who have been injured in accidents, wounded in battle and awaiting transportation back to base hospitals, or suffering from dysentery or pneumonia or other illnesses of exposure.

Every morning they are visited by a plump little middle aged nun. Altho she knows no English she passes a word of greeting or joking gesture with each soldier and her smile is a language universal.

Soldiers Give Them Presents.

"She is the pet of every soldier in the hospital," said Capt. Stockness. "The day doesn't begin for some of those poor fellows until she appears."

The soldiers give little presents of chocolate and candy to the nuns and one nun who understands a little English has been given several books.

BY NIGHT AND BY DAY, R. A. F. RIPS NAZI SUB BASES

Cherbourg Attacked After Raid on Lorient.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—The royal air force bombed Cherbourg today in a swift follow-up to a heavy night raid on the German submarine base at Lorient. The Boston bombers which attacked Cherbourg met no fighter opposition, but the ground fire was heavy.

Two bombers were lost over Lorient, the former French naval base now devoted almost exclusively to Hitler's submarines. It was Lorient's 58th raid, three of which had been made by American bombers.

Cherbourg a Sub Repair Base.

Scores of 500 pound bombs were dropped on the Cherbourg docks in the 77th raid on that great French port. Cherbourg is used as a refueling and repair point for German submarines and surface craft.

While the Bostons bombed Cherbourg, other planes shot up railways and canal shipping in France and the Low Countries. Three fighters were lost. Four locomotives and several small vessels were damaged.

The bombers were over Lorient for an hour in bright moonlight. Big fires were set, pilots reported.

The captain of one Halifax bomber counted 10 large fires, one particularly big one near a drydock.

Targets Blasted by Raiders.

Targets included fuel and torpedo dumps, submarine pens and barracks, power stations, building yards, and machinery plants. The Germans were said to have at least 20 thick concrete lairs for the U-boats at Lorient and to have insisted these were immune to the heaviest bombs.

"The great effort involved in keeping up the quick turnabout of large numbers of U-boats means that practically the whole of its [Lorient's] activities in one way or another is devoted to the submarine campaign," the air ministry commented.

It was the fourth successive night raid of the R. A. F. and the ninth against the Germans this year.

Tonight German raiders bombed three inland areas of eastern England and caused several casualties and considerable damage. One bomber was shot down.

U. S. Envoy to Spain Spikes Talk of a Negotiated Peace

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 15 (AP).—United States Ambassador Carlton J. H. Hayes, addressing a gathering of diplomats and high Spanish officials today, declared there can be no negotiated peace between the United States and her enemies.

Ambassador Hayes.

Hayes, whose theme was "American War Aims," also blasted axis-inspired rumors that an allied victory would mean the overturn of the present government of Spain.

"If the political and social institutions of this country undergo change or modification in future years," he declared emphatically, "it will be the work of Spaniards within Spain—not of the United States or of Spanish emigrés."

Hayes told his audience that the United States is not fighting to impose on any other country or for capitalistic stakes.

"Incorrigibly Idealistic."

Far from being materialistic, the ambassador asserted, the people of the United States "are intensely idealistic—incorrigibly idealistic."

"Americans have in them more of the Spanish than you might guess," he said. "They are, in their peculiar way, the Don Quixotes of the 20th century. For one thing, Americans love liberty—liberty for the individual and liberty for nations."

Naturally peace loving, the Americans "wanted very much to stay out of the present war" and did stay out until they were attacked, Hayes said. Yet, once aroused, Americans can and will fight, he declared, and what arouses them most is resentment at being pushed around or seeing other people pushed around.

Aim Is to Halt "Pushing."

The chief war aim of the United States is to put a stop to "pushing" by the axis powers, the ambassador asserted. He described the so-called new order of the axis as "simply a gigantic pushing around and pushing down of practically all the peoples of the world in the selfish interest of a pair of swashbuckling, would-be superior powers—Nazi Germany and imperial Japan."

"Even the original third partner now is merely a silent partner—a kind of burned out satellite held helplessly in its appointed course by the solar Berlin," Hayes continued.

"Germany and Japan would exploit the world's economy to their own exclusive advantage, thereby impoverishing less favored nations and in the long run preparing them for communism or other desperate adventures."

WIDOW RECEIVES CROSS AWARDED HERO BY NAVY

A Chicago naval officer, Lt. Ralph Waldo Elden, went down with his ship while directing other members of the sinking destroyer Hammann's crew to safety following the battle of Midway, a navy citation received by his widow, Margaret, 6824 Clyde avenue, disclosed yesterday.

Lt. Ralph W. Elden.

Mrs. Elden, mother of a two year old son, Thomas King Elden, received a navy cross awarded her husband posthumously.

"As executive officer of the U. S. S. Hammann during action against the enemy forces, Lt. Elden immediately took charge when the commanding officer was temporarily disabled," the citation said, "and with cool courage and unfailing presence of mind continued to direct abandon ship operations aboard the rapidly sinking vessel until he went down into the sea. While faithfully and efficiently performing his duties, he gallantly gave up his life in service of his country."

ASKS COALITION OF THE AMERICAS AT PEACE TABLE

North and South America must stick together in the event that Russia and Britain deadlock at the post-war peace table, Lt. Comm. Carlos Fallon of Colombia, former naval chief of staff of the South American republic, said last night. He spoke before 700 educators attending a two day inter-American institute at Northwestern university which will continue today.

Charles C. Colby, professor of geography at the University of Chicago, told the meeting that disruption of normal shipping by the war will lead to a post-war crisis unless shipping and aviation facilities are built into a new transportation structure. He urged free trade among all nations.

FIVE WOUNDED MIDWEST FLYERS RECEIVE MEDALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Twenty-one members of the United States army 8th air force—five of them from the midwest—were awarded the Order of the Purple Heart today in recognition of wounds incurred during recent Flying Fortress raids over France.

65,000 IN BRITAIN THREATEN MAIN LINE RAIL STRIKE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Sixty-five thousand locomotive engineers and firemen, operating on main railways in Britain, served notice today on Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, that, unless their demands for increased wages are considered in a favorable light within 21 days, they will strike.

REWARD OFFERED IN PRISON BREAK OF IRISH PLOTTER

M'Ateer, Three Others Scale Wall.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 15 (AP).—A $12,000 reward was posted tonight for information leading to the recapture of Hugh M'Ateer, 25 year old chief of staff of the illegal Irish Republican Army, who with three companions escaped at breakfast time from Belfast prison.

Presumably the fugitives had outside aid. They broke the glass roof of the prison laundry and made their way into the yard, where they used a rope ladder to scale the wall during the breakfast assembly.

Guard Roads and Border.

Their flight was soon discovered and patrols were posted immediately on all roads leading out of Belfast. A watch was set on the border with Ireland.

M'Ateer was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment on Nov. 26 for treason after a trial in which it was alleged he had plotted to set up an Irish republic in Northern Ireland. The offense was punishable by death.

The son of a middle class family, he was arrested Oct. 12 in a house near Londonderry, a United States naval base, where explosives and IRA literature were found.

Seizure Follows Bombings.

The arrest was made after a long series of bombings near Belfast police stations, following an IRA proclamation on Aug. 31 declaring the presence of United States troops in Northern Ireland was an act of aggression and that the IRA reserved the right to use "whatever measures present themselves" to clear the territory of such forces.

During the bombings the British home office undersecretary, Osbert Peake, declared in the house of commons that the IRA was receiving arms and explosives from "countries overseas."

JUSTICE IN BERMUDA SPURNS AUTHORITY OF AMERICAN DICTIONARY

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 15.—An American dictionary is not accepted in a British court, a Hamilton barrister found when he produced the volume to back his assertion concerning the actual meaning of the word "rehearing."

The barrister explained that "it is a rather extensive dictionary," but Chief Justice Brooke Franchis told him "that carries no authority in this court." The barrister argued that the American dictionary followed the Oxford dictionary "in quite a large way," but met a stumbling block when he told the chief justice that the word in question was spelled with a hyphen.

"That is not how it is spelled in our law," replied the justice, and the incident ended.

COMRADE TELLS HOW MISSING PAL FOUGHT JAPS

A Milwaukee couple heard yesterday from a wounded Chicago flyer how their son helped clear the skies over Guadalcanal before his plane failed to return from a mission.

The Chicago flyer, Capt. Donald William Eakin, 24, of 1910 Greenwood avenue, Highland Park, made his report to Mr. and Mrs. David Everitt, Milwaukee, whose son, David Jr., was a buddy of Capt. Eakin from Kelly field flying school days.

The two captains were together at Hickam field, Hawaii, when the Japanese attacked Dec. 7, 1941. Their plane was about to take off when a bomb hit near by, breaking Capt. Eakin's ankle.

They also flew together at Guadalcanal. As pilot and co-pilot, they were credited with shooting down two Jap flying boats. Then one day Capt. Eakin was sick and Capt. Everitt flew without him. The plane never returned and the war department has reported Capt. Everitt as missing in action.

EXPECT FINNISH PRESIDENT WILL BE RE-ELECTED

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 15.—That President Risto Ryti will be re-elected in Finland Feb. 15 is now considered certain in the best informed Finnish circles.

Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim's steadfast refusal to accept the presidency, as well as the fact that the electoral college will be the same as the last time are seen as possible reasons why President Ryti will succeed himself.

On the other hand, it is now said in Helsingfors that the president will seize the occasion to get rid of his unpopular foreign minister, R. J. Witting. Cabinet members are reported to be facilitating Witting's dismissal by placing their portfolios at the president's disposal just before the elections, instead of afterward according to Finnish parliamentary custom.

TWO INCH SNOW INCREASES AUTO HAZARD ON ICE

Two inches of snow fell on icy Chicago streets late yesterday, making driving hazardous. The street car and bus lines sent out sweepers, plows, and sanders to keep their lines open and city and state highway department crews labored to remove the snow.

Motorists were advised by the Chicago Motor club to leave their cars in garages wherever possible. Snow flurries and colder weather, forecast for today, were expected to make the streets even more slippery.

Hospitals reported a marked increase in the number of fracture cases being treated as the result of falls on the ice.

REPORT 100 HELD IN FRANCE FOR ILLEGAL ACTIVITY

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—The Vichy radio said tonight that more than 100 persons had been arrested in Lyons for "illegal activities." The arrests were directed against the underground movement in France, the broadcast reported.

The Lyons municipal council has been removed from office "because it proved itself unable to cope with the present situation," the report added.

Germans Arrest 500.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—The British radio said tonight that the Germans were reported to have arrested 500 people for their part in a "plot against the Germans and French Quislings." The broadcast heard by CBS added that large dumps of weapons were said to have been found in a network of hovels.

5 of 12 Seized in Darlan Murder Reported Released

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Jan. 15 (AP).—Five of the original 12 arrested in connection with the assassination of Adm. Jean Darlan were reported reliably today to have been released. One was rearrested immediately. Those released were described variously as De Gaullists, Royalists, Darlanists and some who professed loyalty to all simultaneously.

HINT ADM. STARK TO HELP UNTWIST AFRICA POLITICS

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—Adm. Harold R. Stark will return to London soon to resume command of United States naval forces in European waters and perhaps to assist in straightening out the political tangle in North Africa, it was indicated here today.

Rear Adm. Alan J. Kirk, Stark's chief of staff, reminded reporters that Adm. Stark is the official representative of the United States with the Fighting French government here.

Continuing the policy of making frequent changes of higher naval personnel in this theater, Capt. Paul H. Bastedo soon is to assume Kirk's post as naval attaché. Capt. James A. Logan has arrived to join Stark's staff, and Capt. Alvain Malstrom is here to relieve Capt. Frederick Kauffman as naval air attaché.

TAKE APPENDIX FROM BABY ONLY THREE DAYS OLD

A 3 day old baby was operated on for appendicitis at Mount Sinai hospital Jan. 5, it was disclosed yesterday by Dr. Stephen Mannheimer, resident physician, who said the operation apparently was successful.

The infant, as yet unnamed, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Magnus, 1901 North Humboldt boulevard. Normal at birth Jan. 2, the baby developed symptoms of appendicitis three days later.

The symptoms, Dr. Mannheimer said, were identical with those displayed by adult sufferers, fever and tenderness in the region of the appendix. Dr. Mannheimer said the operation was one of the first appendectomies performed on so young a child.

RED DRIVES RACE ON; GERMANS 'IN COMPLETE ROUT'

Caucasus Rail Terminal and Many Towns Seized.

LONDON, Jan. 16 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Red army pushing northwest thru the Caucasus on the heels of an enemy "in complete rout" killed or captured nearly 2,000 Germans yesterday and seized five important localities including the rail terminal of Blagodarnoe, 70 miles northwest of Georgievsk, a Russian communique announced today.

Whole trainloads of German war equipment were seized, the midnight communique heard here by the soviet monitor reported.

The Russians said 14 towns and two railway stations were captured in the north Caucasian area of Zimovniki, 130 miles southwest of Stalingrad, which today began its 145th day under siege. Dvoinaya, only 40 miles from the railway key of Salsk, was one of the towns seized.

Drive on Into Ukraine.

The Russians indicated they had resumed their drive westward into the Ukraine far above Rostov, the key communications town serving all the Nazi forces in southern Russia. The communique spoke of the capture of seven localities in the "northern Donetz" area, presumably in the Ukraine, west and northwest of Millerovo.

On this front, a Red army surging across the Kalitva river cut the Rostov-Moscow railway at Glubokaya, and reached a point 90 miles northeast of Rostov.

Blagodarnoe is the beginning of a railway network serving the north central Caucasus. A Russian column pushing northwestward 18 miles from Sotnikovskoe, captured yesterday, seized Blagodarnoe.

Of this powerful Caucasian sweep the soviet communique said:

"All the enemy's attempts to stem our advance resulted in the complete rout of enemy troops."

Cut Nazi's Rear Lines.

The Russians said their advance units were "penetrating deep into the enemy rear and destroying his lines of communication."

New gains were registered in the northern factory area of Stalingrad, where several streets were cleared of the enemy and 600 Germans slain.

On the lower Don, where the Russians are 60 miles east of Rostov several localities were reported recaptured. The Germans have been counter-attacking and offering a tenacious resistance in this area because of the threat to Rostov.

On the central front the Russians beat off counter-attacks southwest and northwest of Veliki Luki, 90 miles from the Latvian frontier.

[The German communique yesterday declared "heavy defensive fighting is continuing with unabated fierceness" on all the southern front. The Nazis claimed to have repelled the Russians in the Stalingrad area, at Veliki Luki, southeast of Lake Ilmen and south of Lake Ladoga, on the northern front.]

NAZI STALINGRAD FORCES HANDED A DO OR DIE EDICT

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—In a special broadcast intended for German troops on the Stalingrad front, the Berlin radio preached a death-and-duty sermon to Hitler's soldiers, it was disclosed today in a report to the office of war information.

The broadcast, the OWI said, was a lengthy admonition in which reference was made to soldiers "who see no sense in holding on." "Personal wishes are of no account," the soldiers were told, OWI said, "It is up to the soldier to carry out orders in a spirit of blind and unquestioning confidence. There is a saying which has now become almost second nature to us: 'The Fuehrer knows the position and he will cope with it. It is our job to obey.'"

The objects of the Berlin broadcaster's remarks were the remnants of the 22 divisions the Russians say they have trapped in front of Stalingrad.

RUMANIAN ARMY ALMOST KNOCKED OUT, SAY SOVIETS

MOSCOW, Jan. 15 (AP).—Tass declared today that the Rumanian army has been knocked out as a serious military force.

"As a result of almost 19 months' participation in the war, Rumania has become a poor, squeezed out country with a totally disorganized economy and a hungry population," the official soviet news agency said. "Recent operations on the soviet front have completed the general debacle of the Rumanian army, which now can be hardly reckoned with as a serious military force."

CHICAGOAN GETS MEDAL; RESCUED PILOT IN ALASKA

HDQ., ALASKA DEFENSE COMMAND, Jan. 15 (AP).—Four army privates received soldiers' medals yesterday for the heroic rescue of a pilot from his burning plane Dec. 5.

In their rescue action the four privates disregarded heat and the danger of exploding gasoline tanks and ammunition, their citations said. The four were Herbert H. Wilson, Kaltag, Alaska; Guy P. Perico, Buckhannon, W. Va.; Joseph D. Lomedico of 3412 Lexington street, Chicago, and Fred Wilson, East Spencer, N. C.

MEN OF CHICAGO AREA BOMB JAP BASES IN GUINEA

Set Supplies Afire in Raid on Lae.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 14 [delayed] (AP).—Today's air raid on Japanese held Lae was 95 per cent effective, reported Lt. Art Small of Durant, Okla., leader of a formation of B-25 Billy Mitchell medium bombers that participated in the attack.

[The raid was reported in a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters yesterday.]

"We bombed Japanese supplies along the beach," he said. "We encountered quite a bit of ack-ack but no interception by Zeros. The weather was particularly fine, and we had a good look at the target before and after. We saw about 95 per cent of our bombs hit the target area."

Chicagoan on Raid.

Small had Lt. R. L. Burdick of Fayette, Ia., as his co-pilot. Other raiding crews included Lt. William Bersch of Wilmette, Ill., a pilot; Lt. Richard Walker of Chicago, co-pilot in another ship, and Lt. Robert Mackoy, Milwaukee, Wis., co-pilot in a third ship.

Lt. Jacob Hutchinson, Long Beach, Cal., the pilot of Mackoy's plane, said that the American bombs set huge fires and that one big explosion sent flames shooting up hundreds of feet. Lae airdrome, he said, still was cluttered with wrecked Japanese planes from previous allied raids.

Strafe Jap Barges.

Among Boston attack bomber pilots who raided the Japanese occupied native villages of Labu and Busame near Lae was Lt. Jack Taylor of Canton, Ill. Taylor said the Bostons strafed a "couple of broken down barges near Salamaua and 20 canoes loaded with supplies."

Other Bostons strafed from Salamaua to Komiutum, as well as dropping bombs that started fires. A four motored Liberator on reconnaissance bombed Finschhafen and Madang.

22 Nazi Divisions Doomed at Stalingrad, Says Officer

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—The Moscow radio tonight broadcast that a Russian army colonel just returned from Stalingrad had said that "you can go for a car ride" around the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions trapped by the Russians in the Stalingrad area. The radio quoted the colonel as saying the Red army has bound the divisions, which he said "are doomed," in a solid ring and built trenches and "wired them in on that little strip of land beside the Volga."

CREDITS SCOUT WORK IN MAKING BETTER FIGHTER

One out of every four soldiers, sailors, or marines is a better fighting man because he was once a Boy Scout, O. D. Sharp, assistant director of scouting in the national office, told a meeting yesterday of executives from the four states in region seven of the organization.

The scouts are not content to rest on their laurels, however, he pointed out, and this year are embarking on a membership campaign aimed at a record enrollment, as well as stressing first aid and physical conditioning among 16 and 17 year old scouts likely to enter the army.

The new first aid program—which will start the 145,000 scouts in this region on a series of competitive matches using their first aid training—is based on a book of 150 first aid problems, which was released yesterday. The problems will be presented in four scheduled competitions, with a regional contest the first week in April to find the best trained first aid squad in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan.

REPORT BRITISH AIR CHIEFS MEET IN NORTH AFRICA

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—Reuters, British news agency, reported from allied headquarters in North Africa today that the three high ranking British air officials in the Mediterranean conferred recently in North Africa, presaging a three way aerial attack against axis forces.

Commentators in London said that if the conference resulted in a unification of the air command, the need for which has been expressed in some quarters, one result would be that flyers could shuttle between eastern and western bases in relay bombings of axis positions. It was explained that now flyers are supposed to return to their home base after completing their missions.

Air Marshal Arthur William Tedder, vice chief of staff of the air forces, met with Keith Park, air vice marshal for Malta, and Air Marshal William Welsh, commanding the R. A. F. in North Africa, it was said.

Chicago Pilot Helps Damage French Engine

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP).—E. Gimbel of Chicago, a pilot in the royal Canadian air force, was credited tonight with helping knock out a locomotive in an air sweep over northern France. His plane and another piloted by R. N. Earle of Victoria, B. C., effected the damage.

CHINESE CHECK JAP DRIVE ON BURMA FRONTIER

Pursue Retreating Enemy North of Hankow.

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 15 (AP).—The Japanese again are attacking from the northern Shan states of Burma along the southern Yunnan frontier area, but have been checked after suffering heavy losses, the Chinese high command said today.

In one encounter north of the Namlwi [Lot] river the Japanese were turned back after advancing from Mongma, the communique said.

In fighting in the Tapieh mountains northeast of Hankow, the Chinese asserted they were making big strides in pursuit of retreating Japanese forces which launched a drive nearly four weeks ago to wipe out potential Chinese bases for a counter-offensive.

Yanks Raid North Burma.

WITH THE U. S. ARMY AIR FORCE IN CHINA, Jan. 24 [Delayed] —(AP)—A flight of United States fighter planes strafed Japanese supply and transport installations at Bhamo, northern Burma, today, setting fire to a big warehouse filled with gasoline drums.

Two tugs and three barges on the Irrawaddy river also were machine gunned from a low level and one of the craft was set afire.

Wavell Visits Burma Front.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP). — Reuters news agency reported today that Field Marshal Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief in India, had recently visited British troops in western Burma, arriving by plane at an advance airdrome in a district recently wrested from the Japanese.

5 BURN TO DEATH IN LOUISIANA AS BOMBER CRASHES

Shreveport, La., Jan. 15 (AP).—Five men were burned to death early tonight when a medium army bomber crashed on the takeoff at Barksdale field near here. Two enlisted men escaped unhurt. They were identified at Barksdale field as Staff Sergt. Clyde S. Maddox, radio operator, route 2, Gordon, Tex., and Sergt. Phillip L. Brinson, aerial gunner, St. Augustine, Fla. Two of the dead were announced as Lt. William E. Mitchell, 22 years old, Cuba, Ala., pilot, and Flight Officer Frank J. Krejci, 23, Weimar, Tex. Names of the other three were not revealed.

Crashes on Runway; 5 Killed.

Salina, Kas., Jan. 15 (AP).—Five members of a crew of 10 army flyers were killed tonight in a crash of a four motored bomber plane during a takeoff at the Smoky Hill air base. The ship crashed and burned on the runway. The names of the men killed were not disclosed pending notification of their next of kin.

Plane Falls Into Gulf; 2 Die.

Fort Myers, Fla., Jan. 15 (AP).—Sergt. Brooks Higginbotham of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Sergt. Alvin J. Brewer of Birmingham, Ala., were killed today when an army light bomber plunged into the Gulf of Mexico off Sanibel Island, officers at Page field here announced. Lt. Robert A. Bell of Detroit, third occupant of the plane, escaped unhurt.

SENATE TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON BOSS FLYNN

Thoro Airing of Unfitness Charges Approved.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Complete airing of the charges of unfitness against Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn, Democratic political boss, for the post of minister to Australia and roving ambassador in the southwest Pacific, seemed assured today as the senate foreign relations committee voted unanimously to hold public hearings on the nomination.

Frank C. Walker.

Hearing Next Week.

The hearing probably will begin the middle of next week, or as soon as Flynn, who is boss of the Bronx and retiring chairman of the Democratic national committee, returns from a meeting of the national committee in Chicago Monday when his successor as chairman is to be chosen. It is expected that Postmaster General Frank C. Walker will inherit the political post and retain his cabinet position, following the example of James A. Farley.

The motion to hold public hearings on the Flynn nomination, which has been bitterly assailed thruout the nation, was made in executive session by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and agreed to without objection. Barkley commented that "we ought to have hearings and they ought to be open."

Bridges Files Charges.

This action was taken after Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], who has led the senatorial attack on the appointment, appeared before the committee to file formally his charges of unfitness against Flynn, which he uttered on the senate floor yesterday when he described the nomination as "the most despicable yet made by the President of the United States."

After today's meeting of the foreign relations committee Senators Tom Connally, Walter F. George [D., Ga.], and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], all members of the committee, conferred privately with Sidney Baron, secretary of the New York Citizens Committee to Reopen the Flynn Case, which has prepared most of the data upon which Bridges based his charges.

ARBITER WOULD INCREASE PAY FOR ELEVATOR UNION

Pay increases for 1,500 members of the Elevator Operators and Starters Union, local 66, have been recommended to the war labor board by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke, it was learned yesterday. Judge Burke was named arbitrator when the union and the Building Managers association were unable to agree on terms of a new contract.

The WLB has granted both sides until Jan. 22 to file objections to the Burke report. Terms of the final award will be retroactive to July 1, when the union's contract expired.

Under the former contract, operators in class A buildings [higher than nine stories] received from $146 to $155 a month, depending on length of service. The operators asked an increase to $195 for all. Judge Burke recommended that class A building operators receive $156 for the first six months, $161 for the second six, and $166 after a year of service. He fixed the pay of operators in class B buildings [less than nine stories] at $149, $154, and $159 for the same terms of service.

The judge recommended that extra pay of starters be increased from $15 to $20 a month, assistant starters from $5 to $10 a month, and night workers from $5 to $10.

CITY PREPARES TO STUDY POISON IN REFRIGERANT

Two employés of the city boiler inspection service will begin a systematic check next week of approximately 200 apartment buildings using methyl chloride in multiple refrigeration systems, in an effort to prevent further gas poisoning like that which claimed the life of Mrs. Betty Daniels in County hospital Jan. 9.

Union Cancels Slowdown; Judge Vacates Two Fines

Judge Gibson E. Gorman vacated yesterday fines of $200 each imposed on Dacey Sanders, 42 years old, and Solomon Brown, 36, both Negroes, for disorderly conduct in a slowdown at the Wood Manufacturing company plant, 4435 South Western avenue, last October. The men are members of the United Auto Workers union, local 786 [AFL]. Judge Oscar S. Caplan, who fined them, had promised that sentence would be vacated if the slowdown ceased. Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, told Judge Gorman the plant was operating at full efficiency, and that Brown no longer was employed there.

THE QUESTION.

What interesting incidents have been called to your attention in your work?

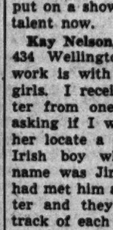
WHERE ASKED.

Service men's center.

THE ANSWERS.

A. R. McLean, assistant recreational director, 7203 Yates avenue—A marine told me that while he was hunting Jap snipers he searched one of them and found his own brother's identification tag and wallet. He knew then that he had killed the Jap who had killed his brother.

Ralph U. Nelson, recreational director, 2019 Garfield boulevard—An army boy left his billfold containing $100 in a cab. The next passenger, a member of the Chinese consular staff, found it and returned it. After he learned that the boy had served in the Pacific waters the Chinese community had a big celebration in the soldier's honor.



Sean G. Marino, entertainment chairman, 22 East Ontario street—One day when our professional talent didn't show up it was quite a revelation to discover how much good amateur talent we had at the center. One sailor said he was a ventriloquist. An army boy offered to be his dummy and they really put on a show. We use our amateur talent now.

Kay Nelson, director of SMC girls, 434 Wellington avenue—All of my work is with the SMC girls. I received a letter from one of them asking if I would help her locate a redheaded Irish boy whose first name was Jimmie. She had met him at the center and they had lost track of each other.

Loretta Stocker, secretary, 113 North Lorel avenue—On Christmas day I had two R. A. F. boys over for dinner and later wrote detailed letters to their mothers in England. A few weeks later one of the British women spoke over the radio and several of my friends heard her tell how much my letter had meant to her.

Paula Jackson, recording chairman, 538 Belden avenue—All of the work in the recording room has been interesting and I know how every one appreciates records from the boys. The brother of one wrote that his mother had played the record 67 times the day she received it from him.

ADMITS FREEING UNIONIST WITH NO STUDY OF RECORD

Poletti Explains Failure to Seek Facts.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—Former Gov. Charles Poletti today admitted he was not in possession of the man's police record and other facts before he commuted the prison sentence of Alexander Hoffman, cleaners and dyers union terrorist and communist sympathizer, but said any inference his action had been motivated by American Labor party politics was "absolutely unfounded."

Poletti, here for the week-end from his Washington job as aid to Secretary of War Henry Stimson, said he did not know that Hoffman had a police record of four arrests prior to his conviction for attempted arson in a union organizing drive. He said he also did not know Hoffman had taken part in communist front demonstrations.

Served Only a Few Months.

Hoffman's sentence was commuted after he served only a few months of his sentence altho neither judge, prosecutor nor parole board was consulted. In explanation of this Poletti said the investigation was carried out thru the governor's office by his legal adviser, George Zanthaky, the case also was studied by Thomas L. J. Corcoran, counsel to the governor. Poletti served as governor 29 days between Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's resignation Dec. 3, and inauguration of Thomas E. Dewey Jan. 1.

Zanthaky advised him, Poletti said, that parole officers were busy and could not complete an investigation by the middle of December, when action on the so-called Christmas calendar of commutations "must be taken." But that he asked the two attorneys to take up the matter with Frederick A. Moran, parole board chairman. Poletti said he asked that the attorneys also take up the case of Mrs. Pearl Spivack, Hoffman's secretary, who was freed with him.

Judge Not Consulted.

Asked why he had not consulted the presiding judge, Queens County Judge Thomas Downs, and District Attorney Charles P. Sullivan on the Hoffman commutation, which is considered customary, Poletti stated:

"There was no special reason. We proceeded on the basis of making an investigation thru the governor's office. There is no legal requirement that a governor must consult them. There is no invariable practice to consult them. My legal advisers studied the court record. The views of the judge and the district attorney appeared from the court record."

BERWYN COUNCIL SELECTS MRAZ ACTING MAYOR

Fred J. Mraz, alderman from the 5th ward in Berwyn, was elected acting mayor of the suburb last night to fill the vacancy created by the death Monday of Mayor Anton Janura.

Mraz was chosen at a special election by the suburb's 14 aldermen, and won over two other nominees. Eber J. Hubbard Jr., 1st ward, and Karel Marsicek, 4th ward. A special election by the municipality's voters to choose a permanent successor to Mayor Janura must be held within six months.

Mraz, 48 years old, has been an alderman since 1935. He has been a resident of Berwyn for 24 years. A structural engineer, he is married and has one son.

The new executive was sworn in by City Clerk Emil Vacin.

SHOT BY OWN GUN.

Lyle Redmond, 39 years old, 1415 Erie street, a private watchman, was shot in the chest yesterday when his revolver was accidentally discharged while he was working in a building at 3310 Lake street.

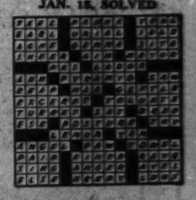
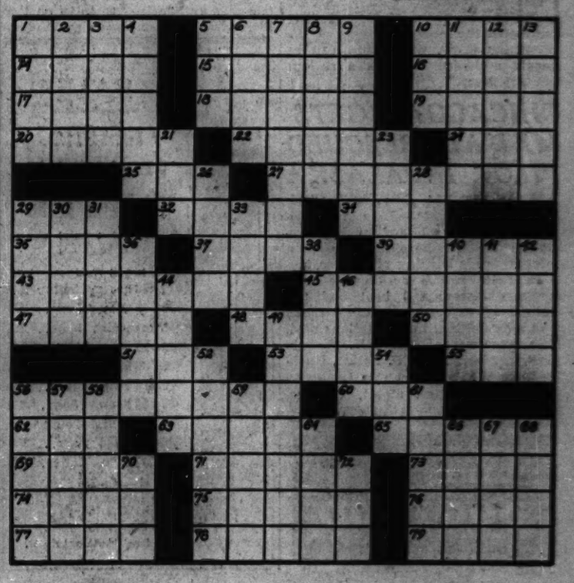
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JAN. 15, SOLVED





FLYNN MISTRIAL ASKED; 2 WOMEN JURORS ACCUSED

Affidavits in Rape Case Charge Previous Opinion.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 15 (AP).—Two women jurors today were accused of having expressed opinions as to Errol Flynn's guilt or innocence in his trial on charges of statutory rape and a deputy district attorney moved for a mistrial. The two were accused in affidavits which the prosecution filed with the Superior court.

John Hopkins, deputy district attorney, said an affidavit of Mrs. Harriet R. Ponder, a member of the Superior court jury panel, named the women as Mrs. Lorene Boehm, wife of an industrial engineer, and Miss Elaine Hopkins said two jurors who were excused from duty in the Flynn case—Mrs. Emily S. Blue and Mrs. Gussie Rowe—also submitted affidavits. He said Mrs. Ponder was not called for jury service.

Accused on Three Counts.

Flynn is charged with three counts of statutory rape, one involving Betty Hansen, 17 years old, and two involving Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16. California law defines sex relations with girls under the age of 18—with or without consent—as statutory rape.

Mrs. Ponder's affidavit, made today in the district attorney's office, asserted that two weeks before Christmas Miss Forbes told her she "had to get on the Flynn jury and that she would convict him and 'fix him.'"

Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Blue said they heard Miss Forbes express the opinion, however, that she would acquit Flynn, instead of convict him, as Mrs. Ponder declared in her affidavit.

The mistrial motion went over until Monday, when Judge Leslie Still granted a continuance agreed to by Thomas Cochran, deputy district attorney, and Jerry Giesler, defense attorney.

Causes Court Sensation.

The motion caused a sensation in court. On the stand at the time was Lynn Boyer, a Hollywood entertainer, who was testifying she heard voices, one of which reminded her of Flynn's, behind a locked bedroom door the night Miss Hansen charges that the film actor was intimate with her. That was after a dinner party Sept. 27 at the Bel Air home of Fred McEvoy, a former British sportsman.

Miss Boyer described how, after the dinner, she had gone upstairs to use a telephone and had knocked on the door of a room behind which she heard voices, and asked if she could enter.

"A voice said: 'You can if you want to. We are taking a shower,'" she told the jury. "Then I heard a laugh or giggle."

Earlier Miss Hansen had reiterated under redirect examination that she made no objection to Flynn's advances.

Deserter of 1922 Freed When He Offers to Enlist

Thomas J. Duffy, 43 years old, 847 Monroe street, who said he deserted from the army 21 years ago, was freed of a disorderly conduct charge by Judge Victor Kula in Chicago Avenue court yesterday when he said he would try to enlist. Military authorities told Judge Kula they did not prosecute deserters after three years.

RAPE INDICTMENT OF NEGRO VOIDED IN FLORIDA COURT

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 15.—An indictment charging an Escambia county Negro with rape of a white woman was thrown out by the Supreme court today on grounds that Negroes were systematically excluded from the grand jury.

It was the first case in which this question was raised as the main point before the Florida court since federal court rulings held the practice violates Negro defendants' constitutional rights.

Justice Glenn Terrell wrote the decision, pointing out that federal court rulings were binding on state courts. The Escambia county Circuit court was upheld in the case.

The state did not deny that the grand jury which indicted Will Lewis "was empaneled in violation of his constitutional rights," the opinion said.

The only other question was whether Lewis forfeited his right to challenge competency of the grand jury by failing to do so before it was empaneled and sworn, as prescribed by the Florida criminal code.

The court ruled that the criminal code would have required Lewis to defend himself "against a probability" that might never have become a reality.

Lewis was indicted July 1, 1942, in a rape alleged to have occurred May 19, 1942.

The case never has been tried.

POLICE MOVE IN, CAMP 7 WEEKS IN WOMAN'S HOME

Arrive After Raid on Game for 24 Hour Vigil.

New York, Jan. 15 [Special].—A Bronx housewife who has been charged by police with maintaining a gambling establishment but who has never been convicted of any offense, revealed today that a police guard has been stationed in her home day and night for seven weeks despite the fact that they have never shown her a legal document authorizing their vigil.

The housewife, Mrs. Anna Goldstein, 50 years old, said the police finally moved out last Tuesday, after newspapers had begun to publish articles on the police defiance of the Bill of Rights in such cases.

The case against Mrs. Goldstein came up in Bronx Special Sessions today and was adjourned to Jan. 26. Her bail of $500 was continued. Outside court her lawyer, Henry B. Rothblatt, called the prolonged police assignment a clear violation of her constitutional rights and a violation of the "philosophy of presumption of innocence which runs in favor of all persons accused of crime under our system of law."

Spend Holidays in Her Home.

When the police moved out of the Goldstein apartment they took with them the "48th precinct" sign they had put on the door.

They were there Thanksgiving day, Christmas day, New Year's eve—all without knowing whether Mrs. Goldstein would be found innocent or guilty of the charge they had made against her.

The case is somewhat similar to that of Mrs. Sara Bertisch, who had police in her flat for a month, except that Mrs. Bertisch was acquitted, and Mrs. Goldstein has not yet been tried.

Day and night for seven long weeks, Mrs. Goldstein said, her place looked like a police station. In addition to the policeman parked at the dining room table others periodically came and went, some bringing sandwiches and coffee, others apparently checking to see that the policeman assigned was on the job. Mrs. Goldstein declared she saw about 65 different cops, including sergeants, lieutenants, and captains, during the sojourn.

Friends Arrested.

Mrs. Goldstein said 11 players, 10 women and a man, "all friends and all in their fifties," were arrested the night of the raid on her home and taken to the 48th precinct station in a patrol wagon. She said the money on the table in her home totaled $3.75. None of the players, she said, was held.

At first Mrs. Goldstein was worried, she said, because a policeman told her the police would have to stay until she moved out and that, on the other hand, she didn't see how she could break her lease.

Mrs. Goldstein, whose husband is a painting contractor, has three children living with her—two girls of school age and one married.

Police Movie Censor Board Puts Ban on 'Native Land'

The police motion picture censor board yesterday banned showing in Chicago of the movie "Native Land" because of "its portrayal of depravity and criminality of a class of citizens, exposing them to contempt and obloquy, and because there would be grave danger of its tending to produce a breach of the peace." "The picture shows labor as lily white," said Sergt. Joseph F. Healy, who is in charge of the censor board, "while capitalists and employers are shown as tyrannical. Topics like that are not proper when we are at war."

DEALERS BLAME OPA BUNGLING IN MEAT SHORTAGE

Leader Asserts Burocrats Ignored Offered Aid.

BY LLOYD NORMAN

Fumbling by theorists of the office of price administration caused the current civilian meat famine in many American cities and the inevitable development of illicit trade in meat, John A. Kotal, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers, asserted yesterday.

John A. Kotal.

"The OPA has itself to blame for all this uproar from housewives and butchers against the meat shortage and illegal overcharging," Kotal said. "This could have been avoided a year ago if the OPA had paid any attention to the program suggested by the meat industry.

OPA Ignores Industry's Suggestion.

"The industry suggested that the OPA sit down with representatives of live stock producers, packers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers and work out a careful and comprehensive program for the stimulation of meat production and its equitable allocation thruout the country."

Kotal said the OPA's meat experts ignored the industry's recommendations and proceeded with its own theoretical program for distribution. As a result, he said, they tripped into pitfalls they could not foresee because of their limited knowledge of the meat industry.

Urged Stimulation of Production.

"A year ago," he said, "we were telling the OPA that what we needed was a program to stimulate meat production to the highest possible level by guaranteeing the farmer and live stock raiser a fair price to encourage the breeding and feeding of meat animals.

"We suggested price quotations be issued for packers, wholesalers, and retailers that would be supervised by the OPA.

"Instead, different groups of OPA experts tried to learn about the meat industry. The inevitable result was that they bungled the whole thing."

Kotal emphasized the need for an equitable method of allocating meat supplies geographically. He observed that some communities, especially on the east and west coasts, had been "shortchanged" on their share of meat.

"Black Market" Misnomer.

Meat packers and dealers asserted that use of the term "black market" with reference to price ceiling violations and upgrading was a misnomer. They explained that, properly, black market practices cover the illegal slaughtering of animals in evasion of civilian quota restrictions and the bootlegging of the meat.

"Price ceiling violation is part of a black market because high prices and illegality go hand in hand," the representative of a Chicago packing company said. "But if ceilings are evaded by wholesalers and retailers who are abiding by quota regulations and federal inspection laws, they are not conducting a black market, but are guilty of breaking price laws. In other words, one form of chiseling does not make a black market."

The trade spokesmen said that undoubtedly some black market practices were going on in Chicago, with bootleggers selling illegally slaughtered meats to certain wholesalers and retailers, but that these were few and bore no relation to the price ceiling evasions.

Press Inquiry on Evasions.

Meanwhile, OPA enforcement officials accelerated their eight month investigation of multifarious evasions of price ceilings. George R. Dressler, president of the Central Retail Meat Dealers Association of Chicago, reported that recent public exposure of bribery, upgrading, and other widespread illicit practices had largely halted meat bootlegging.

Alex Elson, regional OPA attorney, invited retail butchers and other merchants in the trade to submit all factual evidence of ceiling violations. He said many butchers had silently submitted to overcharging which should have been reported.

WARN OIL USERS TO ABANDON THIS TYPE OF HEATING

Only Homes Exempt from Edict.

Conversion from fuel oil to coal or other heating material wherever such conversion is possible in all except private dwellings soon will be mandatory, John Neukom, chief of the fuel oil branch of the office of price administration in Washington, warned in Chicago yesterday.

Neukom issued the edict after a meeting with local heads of the war production board and the petroleum administration for war and some 200 of their staffs. He followed it at once with another admonition: that conversion from fuel in all private homes also will be made compulsory wherever possible by next fall unless the war has been won by that time.

Former Heat is Test.

"The test on private homes—when the time comes—and now largely on commercial buildings and apartments will be: Did they convert from something else to oil?" he said. "If so, then they will have to go back—and in the case of non-private dwellings they will have to convert anyway if the engineers deem it possible. This will include war and ordnance plants, both for heating and processing, wherever possible."

[Plan to ease eastern oil shortage proposed to middle west. Story on page 17.]

At the meeting with Neukom in headquarters of the war agencies at 226 West Jackson boulevard, were Ernest L. Hughes, chief of the fuel oil section of the petroleum administration in Chicago and his staff, Henry Norris, chief of the plumbing and heating section of the WPB in Washington, and David W. Williams, chief engineer of PAW and his staff. Norris presided.

Plan Immediate Survey.

Neukom then announced PAW will use its own engineers, engineers of the army ordnance department, and some volunteer private technicians in an immediate survey of all structures using more than 10,000 gallons of oil a season. If the engineers recommend it, the change from fuel oil to coal will be ordered immediately, Neukom said.

As to the cost of conversions, he added, the government can do nothing except to point out that loans for such purposes are possible thru the federal housing administration. He indicated the private home owners who originally converted to use fuel oil or whose plants are susceptible to conversion, had better prepare for it next summer. Loans also will be available to them thru FHA, he said.

OBITUARIES

Ann Kelly.

Minonk, Ill., Jan. 15 [Special].—Mrs. Ann Kelly, 110 years old, believed the oldest woman in Illinois, died today. She was born in Ireland June 24, 1832, and came to Illinois as a child with her family, which settled at Lacon. She was married in 1864 to Bernard Kelly, who died six years later. Since 1937 Mrs. Kelly had lived with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKeon, at whose home she died. She remained active almost until her death, and insisted on sleeping on a cornhusk mattress with only one feather blanket as covering.

William Sharlog.

Services for William Sharlog, 26 years old, an army aviation cadet, will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 5917 Irving Park road. Cadet Sharlog, who was killed Wednesday in a plane crash near Cochrane field, Georgia, was a son of Mrs. Anna Sharlog, 4845 Addison street. He had been in the army since last February, and had begun aviation training in August. He was a graduate of Lane Technical High school. Survivors include his mother, a brother, Ludwig, and a sister, Stephanie.

Mrs. Estelle S. Starkweather.

Mrs. Estelle Staples Starkweather, formerly of 1044 Lake Shore boulevard, Evanston, died last night in the North Shore Health resort, Winnetka, at the age of 79. She was the widow of Frank Henry Starkweather, banker and manager of estates, who died in 1928. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. E. Royce Armstrong of Evanston and Mrs. John K. Donnan of Austin Tex., and a son, Dr. Rodney Starkweather of Winnetka.

Ensign George R. Waldmann II.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Ensign George R. Waldmann II., whose plane crashed Wednesday near Cecil field, Jacksonville, Fla. He was employed by Harris, Hall & Co., Chicago investment banking house, from June, 1941, until his enlistment in the naval air force last July. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Waldmann of Munsey Park, Manhassett, Long Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Barbara Sokup.

Funeral services for Mrs. Barbara Sokup, 63 years old, of 3444 Potomac avenue, whose two brothers, John and Anthony Zamecnik, have been members of the Chicago police force for many years, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the chapel at Bohemian National cemetery. Mrs. Sokup, who died Thursday, is also survived by her husband, Charles, four sons, and five sisters.

William E. Kurth.

Services for William E. Kurth, a retired city fireman, will be held at 9 a. m. today from the chapel at 4526 North Kedzie avenue to Queen of All Saints' church. Mr. Kurth died Wednesday in his home at 6108 Kirkwood avenue. He was 71 years old. He retired from the fire department in 1926 after 30 years service. He leaves a daughter and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Ernst A. Tietgens.

Mrs. Ernst A. Tietgens, a sister of Cecil Hogarth, credit manager of THE TRIBUNE, died yesterday at her home in 1222 Elmwood avenue, Evanston. She had been a resident of the north shore for many years. She is survived by her husband, a son Ernest, who is now in the army, and two daughters, Mrs. Leonora T. Denman and Mrs. Susan Seyfried. Funeral services will be private.

Arthur J. Stone.

Services for Arthur J. Stone, retired mechanical engineer for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 5708 Madison street. Mr. Stone died Thursday in the Presbyterian hospital. He was 74 years old and lived at 5820 West End avenue. He leaves a son and daughter.

Joseph J. Pillig.

Joseph J. Pillig, 48 years old, a fireman attached to engine company No. 6, died of a heart attack yesterday in a railroad freight office at Canal street and Roosevelt road. Pillig, who became a fireman Aug. 10, 1925 and had received three honorable mentions, resided at 4700 Fulton street.

Mrs. Jesse Crawford.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—Mrs. Jesse Crawford, 43 years old, song writer and organist, who with her husband played in theaters thruout the country, died today. They met in 1923 while playing in Chicago and were married that year.

Girl, 13, Knocks Woman Down and Seizes Purse

A girl purse snatcher, about 13 years old, last night knocked Mrs. Katherine Maksinuk, 48, of 4517 North Keating avenue, to the ground at 2500 Rosemont avenue and fled into an alley with her victim's purse, containing $31. Mrs. Maksinuk reported the theft to Summerdale avenue police.

LYLE DISCLOSES HIS AIMS FOR CITY IN MAYORAL RACE

M'Kibbin Busy Ending State Duties.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Former Judge John H. Lyle yesterday announced his platform in the opening Republican primary campaign for mayor while George B. McKibbin was busy divesting himself of his duties as state finance director to enter the battle as the regular organization choice.

Immediate response to McKibbin's candidacy has started a stream of campaign contributions including checks for $50 and $100, and one for $500, he said. On Monday he will move into headquarters in Hotel La Salle where the permanent G. O. P. county staff has offices.

Meanwhile Arthur F. Albert, former alderman, was scheduling a radio and public meeting campaign. Albert asserted that it was merely wishful thinking on the part of McKibbin's backers that he is likely to withdraw from the race by Tuesday.

Lyle's platform statement was free from rancor concerning his opponents.

Wants to Cut Taxes.

"I will make desperate efforts to reduce heavy tax burdens without lowering wages of employés," he said.

"I will enter the traction controversy with the purpose of getting maximum service at minimum fares for the car riders thru use of the existing surface and elevated lines. I also shall aid in the installation of the most extensive, efficient, modern, up to date bus system transportation to every part of the city that can be found anywhere in the United States.

"I shall be for a public school system, school teachers, and employés unhampered by politics.

"On the issue of crime and criminals I cite my record of 12 years on the bench and promise a continuation of that record of inflexible law enforcement against organized, commercialized, syndicated crime."

Boyle to Use Radio.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly also was quiet while the Democratic independent candidate, Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], announced he has arranged for a heavy program of radio speaking.

Boyle will start his radio talks tomorrow at 2 p. m. over WMAQ, the first of six Sunday speeches. Each Tuesday he will be on from 6:45 to 7 p. m. on WENR, and each Thursday between 8:45 and 9 p. m. over WCFL during the last four weeks before the primary election Feb. 23. James T. Igoe, organizer of the Free Democrat league, co-manager of Boyle's campaign, will speak on some of these occasions.

EDWARD M. CRAIG, BUILDING LEADER, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Edward Marshall Craig, nationally known executive of building industry organizations, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital. He would have been 83 years old on Feb. 1.

Edward M. Craig.

Mr. Craig was secretary and business manager of the Building Construction Employers association, secretary of the National Association of Building Trades Employers, and president of the American council.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. Craig served as a member of the Pennsylvania legislature in 1888-'89. He came to Chicago in 1892 as a representative of the American Boiler company. As secretary of the building contractors council and the Building Construction Employers' association he was a central figure in several notable labor disputes.

His home was at 5540 Magnolia avenue. He leaves his widow, Roberta Craig, and two sons, William and Clarence. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Monday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue.

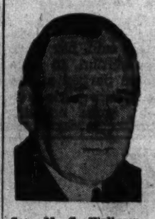
SENATE TO PROBE 'PAMPERING' OF INTERNED JAPS

Control by New Deal Agency Criticized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Angered over reports that Japanese aliens interned in western concentration camps are being pampered, the senate military affairs committee today voted to investigate conditions in the camps and to prepare legislation for shifting their control from the President's relocation authority to the army.



Sen. M. C. Wallgren.

"There has been too much pampering and too much social experimentation in the handling of these concentration camps," declared Sen. Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.], who was requested in committee to prepare legislation for transfer of the camps to army jurisdiction.

Citizens Complain.

This legislation will be acted upon if an investigation of a subcommittee bears out complaints so far received by the senators. Wallgren said that these protests against conditions in the camps have come from citizens and public officials alike.

The subcommittee consists of Senators Albert B. Chandler [D., Ky.], chairman, Wallgren, James E. Murray [D., Mont.], and Rufus C. Holman [R., Ore.].

"The Japs are getting everything and our people aren't getting anything," commented Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the military affairs committee.

Director Faces Quiz.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] who described the New Deal's war relocation authority as "one of those social experimental agencies," protested that the Japs are getting schoolhouses and teachers in these camps while the people of Colorado cannot afford sufficient educational facilities for their own citizens.

Dillon S. Myer, director of the war relocation authority, is to be summoned before the committee to answer charges against handling of the camps, the senators said.

The WRA was created by the President last March 18 as an agency of the executive office to handle the relocation of approximately 110,000 persons of Japanese ancestry.

WILLIAM GRAY LEAVES $592,004 AS NET ESTATE

Mrs. Birdie R. Gray of 994 North Meadow lane, Lake Forest, yesterday filed a state inheritance tax return of $17,160 in Lake County court on the estate of her late husband, William W. Gray, who died Feb. 18, 1942.

Mrs. Gray's return set forth that the gross estate amounted to $2,080,844 and that debts and expenses totaled $1,488,840, leaving a net estate of $592,004 on which to pay the state inheritance tax.

The balance of the estate goes to four persons. The widow will receive $204,001 and three daughters each will receive $129,334. The daughters are Mrs. Mary Kerwin of Lake Forest, Mrs. Margaret Browne and Mrs. Dorothy Up de Graff, both of Los Angeles, Cal.

CAKES AND BUNS SCARCITY IN EAST PREDICTED SOON

New York, Jan. 15 [Special].—A shortage of bakery specialties such as fancy cakes, rolls, buns and special breads, such as rye bread, looms here because of the unwillingness of flour brokers to continue operations under office of price administration price regulations, the New York Association of Flour Distributors announced today.

The association said jobbers are restricting operations because the ceiling basis will not allow coverage of actual costs. Thousands of neighborhood bakers who buy flour in less than carload lots will be affected as it is these small bakeries that supply most of the bakery specialties.

U. S. AIDS URGED TO CURB TRAVEL IN SPEECH MAKING

ODT Plea Follows Reverse Stand by Mrs. F. D. R.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, today appealed to government agency heads to be chary of accepting out of town speaking invitations lest they place further burden on the transportation system.

The request was made a few hours after Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had asserted at Red Bank, N. J., that she has no qualms about traveling wherever she is invited to make an appearance.

The ODT denied that its appeal, which said nothing about the wives of government officials, was a result of Mrs. Roosevelt's statement. An ODT spokesman declined to say whether the voluntary compliance might be expected to apply to her.

Civilian Coöperation Praised.

The ODT praised civilians for their response to its earlier plea against unnecessary travel and ODT officials said the request for voluntary cooperation still stands.

The Associated Press reported that a newspaper writer asked Mrs. Roosevelt at Red Bank yesterday whether she did not feel she should "stop gadding about" in view of the curtailment of travel. The dispatch said she replied that she traveled "because I am asked to do these things by people of various organizations," and that she added:

"As long as I make enough money by writing 'My Day' [her newspaper column] to pay my own expenses, I feel justified in going to as many meetings and doing as many things as I am asked to do—as many things as I can do."

Careful Study Urged.

Eastman's appeal, addressed to all government agencies, mentioned the "significant response" of the public to the program of making the best use of transportation facilities for winning the war.

The letter also asked government chiefs to reduce government travel to a minimum and space annual leaves for government workers when travel is involved, so the workers will not be traveling on holidays or during week-ends.

"In discharging its responsibility to insure that essential transportation will be provided, the ODT must continue to discourage unnecessary use of carrier facilities," the letter said.

"This program cannot be completely carried out without the help of all governmental agencies."

SING ROMBERG'S 'DESERT SONG' ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Sigmund Romberg's "Desert Song," a musical drama of fighting in North Africa by the French Foreign legion, will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air over W-G-N, W59C, and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

Marion Claire will sing the rôle of Margot, with Maybelle Prindaville taking the dramatic rôle. Thomas L. Thomas will sing the rôles of the Red Shadow and Pierre, with Bret Morrison taking the speaking parts. Other singing parts will be taken by Kenneth Morrow, Bruce Foote, and Wayne Van Dyne, other dramatic parts by John Barclay, Norman Gottschalk, Butler Manville, and Marvin Mueller.

All of the familiar music of this popular operetta will be included. The best known songs are "One Alone," the stirring "Riff Song," and the title song.

The musical setting will be provided by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the direction of Henry Weber. Robert Trendler is the ensemble coach and Kenneth MacGregor the producer.

8 IN BEAUTY SHOP IN EVANSTON FOIL BANDIT—3 DON'T

A bandit entered the Del-Ray Beauty salon at 922 Noyes street, Evanston, yesterday, confronted 11 women, and commanded, "Give me your purses." Then he walked among them, held open a large shopping bag, and ordered them to drop the purses into the bag. Three obeyed. The other eight hid their purses. The three victims and their losses are: Mrs. James E. Currie, 2323 Park avenue, $66; Mrs. Robert E. McMeen, 916 Noyes street, $25, and Mrs. M. V. Jewel, 2317 Ridge avenue, $5. All live in Evanston. Miss Georgia Bennos, 1508 Main street, Evanston, an operator, chased the robber a short distance as he fled.

COUNTY DEFICIT MOVES ONE MAN TO DO SOMETHING

Mechanic Has Savings; Officials Ask More.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

While county office heads were parading before the finance committee of the county board yesterday, most of them with pleas for the same or bigger appropriations than they had last year, Philip Hogan was doing something about the county's big deficit.

Hogan is superintendent of mechanics for the county. He displayed a model of a device, which he made himself at a cost of 20 cents, to replace kalsomine brushes. It was composed of wood and old carpet.

"It works," he said. "A kalsomine brush costs $30 and I figure the use of this will cut county expenses $3,000 a year. I am also making incubators for the babies at County hospital. They are of wood and cost $125 instead of the customary $500 for those on the market. Two already have been made."

Asks More for Boarding Children.

Among those who went before the finance committee was Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court. He said that the boarding of destitute children cost the county $460,000 in 1942 and he believed that this should be raised to $570,000, as it was hard to get board in foster homes at the present rate of $20 a month; it should be $25.

The judge also urged that pay increases be granted a number of the court's employés since some were being hired away by the federal government and other organizations wealthier than the county. Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the finance committee, said he was a believer in fair wages, but the county was as bad off as a $100 a month stenographer.

Later Judge Bicek said he was a member of a commission preparing a bill to have the state take over half the cost of boarding children. Another group is making up a bill to transfer blind pensions, which cost the county $425,000 a year, to the state and national governments.

Expect Flood of Tax Complaints.

The county board of tax appeals asked for the same appropriation as last year—$131,000—on the ground that the high tax rate for 1942 [an estimated $10.45] would bring a flood of complaints. So far the board has received, from the districts whose time to file objections to personalty assessments has passed, less than half as many complaints as it did last year.

County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger said he hoped that the county would persevere in its announced economy program; it would ease his burden by making available some money to pay against the accumulated total of five millions of accumulated bills. He also warned that collections of old delinquent taxes had dropped to a mere trickle and suggested the county hurry up its collection machinery.

Assessor John S. Clark told the committee a quadrennial assessment must be made this year and that it would cost $170,000 over his 1942 expenses; that every piece of real estate in the county would have to be viewed and appraised.

The county's appropriations last year were more than 20½ millions and the revenues, which will be about the same this year, were only 18 millions. The budget hearing will continue this morning.

Three Deaths

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 15 (AP).—Triplets—two girls and a boy—were born last September to pretty Mrs. Lorraine Aldinger, 28.

Last month one of the girls suffocated in her crib.

Yesterday Mrs. Aldinger, with the other girl in her arms, tripped on a stairway and fell. The youngster died from a skull fracture.

Today Mrs. Aldinger plunged to her death from the 11th floor of the downtown Federal building.

Police Sergt. C. D. Jorgensen said he found this note in her purse:

"Daddy—Sorry I fell downstairs with Suzie. I love you. Your Mommie."

FREIGHTER SUNK BY U-BOAT OFF SOUTH AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—The navy today reported that a small British merchant ship was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine early in December in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors have landed at Miami, but details of the attack were not announced. The sinking brought to 588 the number of vessels sunk in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The attacks have cost the lives of 3,790 persons, 2,458 are missing, and 17,849 have been rescued.

ENTIRE HOSPITAL FLOOR IS TAKEN BY MME. CHIANG

Daily Beauty Treatments, Auto Trip Bared.

New York, Jan. 15 [Special].—Altho coincidence has brought Mme. Chiang Kai-shek and J. B. Powell, American newspaper man tortured by the Japs, to the same New York hospital, she has been unable to visit him, it was learned today.

However, her husband, the Chinese generalissimo, sent Powell a check for $10,000.

The Chinese woman, who has taken over an entire upper floor of the hospital for herself and her staff, is supposed to be strictly incognito.

She is listed on hospital records under an assumed name, her floor is guarded by federal agents, and when she is taken for a drive in a limousine, she leaves the building by a rear entrance.

Maintain Veil of Secrecy.

Since Powell is in a less exclusive section of the hospital, the veil of official secrecy which has surrounded Mme. Chiang's visit would be violated if she called on him.

Powell, whose weekly Shanghai newspaper was an unrelenting foe of the Japanese, lost both feet as a result of gangrene contracted in a Jap prison. In addition to Chiang's $10,000 gift, American newspaper men have raised $9,780 for him, Chinese newspaper men contributed $3,600, and the Chinese government gave him $1,000.

Has Teeth Pulled.

Mme. Chiang, it was learned today, had her wisdom teeth removed and was treated for sinus trouble.

An honor graduate of Wellesley college, she has many American friends, but few callers have been permitted. She apparently is in good condition, however, and is visited each day by a hair dresser and beautician.

A White House statement, issued shortly after she arrived in this country last November, said she was here for treatment of injuries suffered in the Chinese war zone five years ago. Her health also had been impaired, the Chinese embassy said last month, "by the intense and unremitting strain of her war work since then."

Mme. Chiang will be a guest at the White House when she is released from the hospital.

THE AMERICAN SHARE.

A chart prepared by the Associated Press, comparing the war expenditures of this country with those of our principal allies and enemies, was published on the front page of yesterday's TRIBUNE. The comparison is for the year beginning next July 1. The figure for our country is the 100 billion dollars set forth in the President's budget message.

The diagram shows that Mr. Roosevelt proposes that America spend more money to fight the war than is being spent by all our allies and enemies combined. On a per capita basis the expenditures of this country are something like a third greater than those of Germany or Great Britain. Russia, with a population half again as large as ours, is putting up only about a sixth as much as we are asked to contribute. Japan with a population not much less than ours, is appropriating about a fifteenth as much money for war as we are. Great Britain, Russia, and Canada together, which have in the aggregate not much less than twice our population, are providing perhaps half the sum that Mr. Roosevelt is asking from the American people. Generally higher costs for labor and materials in this country can account for a part of these disparities but still leave a vast deal to be explained.

Nobody can object to appropriations that will mean harder blows struck at the enemy and thus a speedier victory. The question which this chart underlines, however, is whether all the 100 billions will serve this useful purpose. The disparity between our costs and those of our principal allies and enemies is so great as to demand an answer to the question whether all of our billions are going to serve a useful purpose in the war. Are we going to find merchant ships in which to transport all the arms we are buying to the war zones for the use of our own soldiers and the allies? Are we going to find transports in which to move the millions of men in training to the battlefields? Are we going to have ships enough in which to carry all the foodstuffs to be purchased for lend-lease account?

If the answer to any of these questions is no, then the 100 billion dollar budget is excessive and ought to be pared down accordingly in the interest of national solvency. The Germans and the Japanese can and will be knocked out of the war by superior force, but they cannot be frightened out of it by a big budget.

When congress has examined Mr. Roosevelt's budget and revised it where necessary, the chart will still show a disproportionately large American contribution. That is a fact which Americans should never allow themselves to forget. The figures prove that America is the principal power among the allies. America is fighting the war against Japan almost single handed; and to say that is merely to recognize the obvious truth that valuable as the aid of the Australians has been, it has not been of major importance. America is playing an increasingly important rôle in the African fighting and appears destined to do much more in Africa and eventually in Europe. Without America, neither Germany nor Japan, much less both of them together, would have great reason to be worried today.

As first among the allies America is entitled to first place at the war councils and at the peace table. Our claim to leadership in the war is a just one, not only because of our greater contribution but also because of our proved superiority in battle. We alone have been able to hold and defeat the Japanese. Our men with their superior morale and discipline, our generalship and our equipment have turned the tide wherever they have been engaged.

The great majority of Americans were reluctant to enter this war, but now that they are in they expect our country to assume the leadership in battle and in diplomacy that we have earned.

THE ARMY SHOULD RULE.

Attorney General Biddle and Secretary Ickes are giving active assistance to the governor of Hawaii and the delegate to congress from that territory, who are conducting a campaign to terminate martial law in the islands. An inkling as to the interest of the two fellow traveler members of the cabinet in restoring civil rule in the islands has been turned up by Mr. Gowran of the Tribune staff, who is in Honolulu.

Recently, he reports, a labor organizer threatened to call the employés of a Hawaiian power plant out on strike. Military authorities quickly squelched his idea. To the two fellow travelers it is obviously of less importance that Hawaii be defended than that radicals in the labor movement be allowed to continue their disruptive tactics.

Martial law should be imposed only in areas under direct attack of the enemy. Hawaii is such an area and will remain so, so long at least as the administration gives second place to the Pacific war. We have lost enough in that field without risking the keystone of our efforts there. The ill-advised interference of Biddle and Ickes should not sway congress to interfere, particularly since the mayor of Honolulu has said that martial law is operated considerately and fairly and is not imposing any undue hardships on the people of the islands.

NEW YORK REPEALS THE CONSTITUTION.

Frank Oliver a judge of Special Sessions in New York, asserts that Mayor La Guardia, his New York police, and the courts of the state have joined in repealing the Constitutions of the United States and of the state of New York. The victory at Yorktown, he remarks, "hasn't yet reached New York."

The judge's observations are prompted by a particularly flagrant violation of the right of a citizen to security in his own home On Dec. 12, without a search warrant, police entered the apartment of Mrs. Lena Bertish Eleven women with whom she was playing cards were fined $1 each on charges of disorderly conduct, but Mrs. Bertish, accused of being the keeper of a gambling place, was acquitted.

Mayor La Guardia's police defend their invasion by citing a ruling of the late Justice Benjamin Cardozo, then a member of New York's highest court. In 1925, when the decision was rendered, the New York state constitution did not assert the immunity of the citizen in his home from unreasonable search and seizure, but the federal Constitution did. Five years ago New York state adopted the same constitutional provision, so anything to the contrary ordained at an earlier date by Justice Cardozo was superseded. La Guardia's police nevertheless entered the home without a search warrant and stayed there, keeping a 24 hour watch on Mrs. Bertish, until they were finally shamed into leaving after more than a month as uninvited guests.

None of these things conceivably would have happened if it had not been for La Guardia's comparatively recent discovery that gambling is a great sin. The mayor went so far as to go on the radio and appeal to children to peach on parents playing the races.

Mayor La Guardia and his friends say he is a liberal. He is the kind of liberal who regards the Bill of Rights as a scrap of paper.

AFRICAN MYSTERY.

There is marked anxiety both in this country and in England over affairs in North Africa. The London Daily Mail speaks of a "mysterious situation . . . worsened by lack of news." It is obvious that the military situation has become stalemated. The political situation has become increasingly murky since the assassination of Adm. Darlan and North Africa has apparently become an arena in which conflicting groups, working at cross purposes, are sabotaging Gen. Eisenhower's hope of attaining a military decision.

At this distance, or even from London, it is impossible to discover what is going on, for an airtight censorship has been clamped down. Why this has been done is as great a mystery as all the rest. Gen. Eisenhower undoubtedly knows that the American public will support him unreservedly in taking any action he considers necessary. All he need do is to disclose the truth about what is holding him back.

It is apparent that he need have no scruples about making a full disclosure if he is dealing merely with an internal political conflict among the French themselves. If that were the full extent of his troubles he should be able to resolve the problem. The American public would support him in direct and even drastic action. We owe very little to the several types of French politician who persist in playing their petty game even tho the eventual liberation of their country depends largely upon the success of Gen. Eisenhower's undertaking.

The inaction and, even more pronounced, the secrecy that have descended upon North Africa suggest that some higher diplomatic game than one concerning colonial French politics has deprived Gen. Eisenhower of the capacity for independent action. The implication is that, while trying to fight a war, he is compelled to look over his shoulder to Washington and London to discover the political intentions of his superiors. He may feel that the decision has been taken out of his hands. That, at least, would account for his silence.

Certainly there is no other valid explanation for withholding information from the American people. The Germans know very well that the expedition which went into North Africa with such dash and promise of effecting a quick decision has bogged down. The censorship is concealing nothing from them. The explanation for Darlan's murder and the identity of its instigators are probably known in official circles, but Washington and London continue to cover up. Does this secrecy serve any sound military purpose? Obviously its result is quite the contrary. The failure of the troops to make substantial progress in weeks is sufficient evidence of that.

Ever since Secretary of the Navy Knox's epochal lie about the calamity at Pearl Harbor, it has become more and more evident that the censorship has little to do with protecting military secrets, but that it has a great deal to do with protecting political reputations and serving political ends. The public in the allied countries, seeing the damage done our cause in Africa, can no longer be complacent about the vagaries of the censorship.

Newspapers especially will be moved to this conviction, for they can fear with good reason that the distrust of the government's course of conduct is being transferred to them because the censorship has prevented them from carrying out their obligations to their readers. The time has come for a concerted movement by the press of this country to demand that they be given the truth.

Editorial of the Day

FARM SUBSIDIES.

[Indianapolis News.]

Farm organization leaders are becoming anxious about farm subsidies. Their fears are well grounded, for the administration has taken the second of the three steps in complete control of agricultural industry. The second step is holding the price of farm products to the consumer down by buying from the farmer at a high price and selling to the processor or consumer at a low price and paying the difference out of the federal treasury.

When the administration began to pay farmers not to use their land for crop production, and to increase the productive capacity of their land, it took the first step toward farm control. The farmers who took this money became obligated to the administration, but they did not sell out completely. They did not sell their votes, as the election returns from rural districts prove.

For several years that administration has been stabilizing certain farm products prices by buying so-called surpluses and selling them at a loss or giving them to people on relief. Now it has gone farther. It now buys the entire milk supply for the New York area and sells it to consumers at a loss. On Dec. 22, it put the same plan into effect in the Chicago area.

Farm products prices must be kept at a level which will assure production. But the increase should be passed on to the people. The farmer should insist on freedom from a general subsidy. If he allows the administration to go very far with the subsidy plan, the next step will be in sight. That means a danger of complete government control of all farming and the enslavement of farmers.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS BECOMES A NEW MAN.

16th Jan.—Decided to make a new man of myself, and cure a minor malady, by not smoking my infamous pipe. Have been throwing tantrums on the slightest provocation ever since. Found it impossible to do my writing without smoking. Was reminded of an artist friend, who was much given to the flowing bowl and tried to reform. He, too, got into a terrible state of mind and said, "When I do not drink I cannot paint. When I do drink I cannot get any customers for portraits." Nevertheless he lived to a high old age, and you will find his work in the country's best museums, churches, and seats of learning.

So I am caught in a vicious circle, and as jumpy as a dog chasing its own tail. Find that not smoking has many curious effects. For example, went out on a bright, sunny day and thought the air quite balmy and said, "There seems to be a touch of spring in the air," and then I saw a thermometer marking 15 degrees above zero, and a man told me it had been zero earlier. So I recommend not smoking to arctic explorers.

Foregathered with three adepts in the recorded adventures of Sherlock Holmes, the great detective, for the purpose of founding an esoteric circle to study his cases, and perpetuate his fame, and observe his birthday with a feast. We exchanged greetings by telegraph with a similar circle in New York, called the Baker Street Irregulars, then holding their annual banquet. We came to no decision about a name for our group, but I intend to vote for the Hounds of the Baskervilles. All such matters, however, must be approved by the mastermind behind our movement, a mysterious character. Anyhow, the game's afoot.

Now to go to my club and have a muskrat cooked for my dinner.

Why Choppy Looks Worried.

Once when we returned from our vacation Choppy was ill, and he did not recover as we had hoped. He became so weak that he had trouble in taking his walk around the block. He had been lonesome. He was sick at heart.

I called Choppy's veterinarian, who understands Choppy perfectly, and I told him about Choppy. "Well," he said, "what would you do for yourself if you felt weak, lonesome, and sick at heart? What would you like? Give him a surprise."

My thinking cap came galloping across the room and lighted on my head. "What would I like?" I thought. "Why, I have it; a nice, thick steak, medium well done." I went to the butcher shop and bought 80 cents' worth of steak, took it home, broiled it, salted it, and cut it in small pieces.

Choppy ate it gingerly, but only when I handed him each piece individually. When he would refuse a portion we would say to him, "All right, we'll call the pussy cat. Here kitty, kitty, kitty." This infuriated him so that he ate the whole 80 cents' worth of steak without any more coaxing. He recovered almost instantaneously.

Since that time we have always given Choppy the steak treatment when he did not feel well. What to do now? Roy Engel.

GOOD BUT NOT PERFECT.

I've learned to hit a nail almost
Upon the head,
And how to make what I call toast,
By scorching bread;

I turn a key within a lock
With greatest skill,
And should you see me wind a clock
'Twould make you thrill.

I paint with an artistic touch
Fine scenery,
E'en tho I haven't studied much

Do You Remember Peerless Annabelle?

Since this year is the 50th anniversary of the world's fair of 1893, I like to recall that at Michigan avenue and Adams street, directly opposite the site of the present Art Institute, there was a "wine stube" named the Grotto. It flourished during the summer of 1893. How do I happen to know? Well, it offered entertainment in the form of a "serpentine dance" by a 'teenage girl billed as Peerless Annabelle. And she was Annabelle Whitford Buchan.

THE DEVELOPING CHILD.

YOUNGSTERS develop personality like the unfolding of a rosebud, altho not with equal rapidity. Nothing brings more joy than this gradual evolution. The changes are scarcely observable from day to day but, in the course of a month, scores of new characteristics stand revealed.

Imagination bursts forth toward the end of the first year. It is exhibited in the child's play. The most disreputable rag doll will be enshrined with beauty and charm. Such an object may become a bed companion and mean even more to the babe than the soothing hand of mother.

Habits—good or bad—are easy to acquire. We must keep in mind the fact that repetition over and over again renders nerve pathways more sensitive. In this connection, we cannot be too careful about inculcating routine procedures—all of which may be performed quietly, methodically, and naturally.

The nervous system of an infant will be affected unfavorably by confusion, noisy scoldings [of others], and the hurly-burly of disorder. Feedings must be established on a definite program and the child will retain thruout the years the influence of regularity. Of course, any established schedule will be upset in the event of illness.

The question is often asked, "Does early walking and talking indicate superior intelligence?" Well, it may. On the other hand, cases have been reported wherein words were not employed until the age of six. Nevertheless, development followed normally. On the whole, however, youngsters who are particularly gifted will use expressions by the end of the first year.

On the average, the tot will begin to articulate by the time he is 15 months of age. But no one need be disturbed if conversation is substantially slower in appearing. Girls start to chatter sooner than boys, a tendency which they retain thruout life.

A mother may write, "My son seems to be fearful. He becomes frightened easily." The answer is that the lad reacts accurately to the behavior of the adults who surround him. No parent can be proud of the fact that his boy cowers in the presence of scoldings, cringes in anticipation of a sudden slap, or runs and hides from the thunder and lightning of a family quarrel.

Such an atmosphere of uncertainty destroys the sense of security with which we are endeavoring to surround our little ones. Worst of all, a shrinking attitude may increase as time goes on. It is an evil which, if not detected promptly and remedied, may prove a severe handicap.

Some one has said that the most distinctive quality in a mother is patience. We can all admit the truth of this assertion. The trait inspires confidence, which is our best antidote against apprehension. Soon the child will learn that, altho his playmates may be in a perpetual stampede, he need not be. How can a tike with his mind filled with anxiety fail to suffer lack of appetite, sleeplessness, or manifest a persistent cough, bedwetting, etc.?

A school for parents is much to be desired.

MANY REASONS.

Mrs. V. C. writes: What are the most common causes of miscarriage?

REPLY.

A prominent factor is the behavior of certain internal secretions or hormones. In addition, bad hygiene, disease, injuries, and faulty nutrition must be considered.

INFECTION.

Mrs. H. R. writes: What causes spinal meningitis?

REPLY.

Many organisms may be responsible. The most common type is a biscuit-shaped microbe—the meningococcus.

UNSTEADY.

S. O. writes: What makes a person weave when he walks?

REPLY.

Incoördination—lack of balance. Look first to the circulation and the nervous system.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Right now I'm completely aroused because of reading your paper this morning and the article in it concerning intimidation of the Associated Press, along with your paper. I'm just a 19 year old kid but this thing bothers me very much. I know there is little I can do about it as an individual, but one thing I can do, and that is offer my sincere best wishes for your success in staving off the growing Gestapo in our own country.

Your paper is probably the greatest moving force left in the country which still stands out, unafraid, for real freedom of the press. An overwhelming percentage of our population is for you 100 per cent. Don't let us down. Fight to the finish. If there is anything I personally can do let me know. If it would really help I'd send you 10 per cent of my salary—as 10 per cent is now going for war bonds.

Your fight here is just as important as any battle anywhere because you—just as much as our service men—are fighting for freedom. M. C.

POLICE CONSOLIDATION.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—The city of Chicago police department has approximately 6,000 men policing the city afoot and in vehicles. The Chicago park district police department has about 600 men policing park areas afoot and in cars.

Some areas receive duplicating police service, while other areas are far undermanned. On certain streets, two or more police cars with men of different autonomous jurisdictions cover and make duplicating reports of events.

Consolidation of the city and the park district police departments would provide more and better police service without increasing tax rates. It would result in tax saving of 2 million dollars. The centralization of information and records would likewise eliminate costly duplication.

L. C. W.

NOT SUSPICIOUS.

Chicago, Jan. 12. — THE TRIBUNE has done me a great injustice by putting the heading "He Suspects the Postoffice." on my letter of Dec. 26.

I do not suspect or accuse any one of mishandling my mail; all I am doing is asking a question.

If it is true that we are losing over 600,000 tons of shipping along the African coast, as was announced over the radio Jan. 10, my question may be answered by that statement. JOSEPH PODLESAK.

APPETITES.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—What a mouthful our President said when he spoke of some people thinking more of their appetites than patriotism. I wonder, was he referring to the Washington high hats with their 35 dish menu or to the hard working men who come home from work just looking for a little meat and a few potatoes? MRS. R. DEAN.

LEND-LEASE CARP.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 11.—About this mud puddle fish pond idea. Why wouldn't it be better for the government to seine all the lakes and streams for carp, can or smoke them and send them to our lend-lease customers instead of meat, and give the army and civilians of the United States of America the meat?

JAMES J. MCCARVILLE.

DEAD DUCKS DOING WELL.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 11.—"To the victor belongs the spoils." That's hooey. According to recent Presidential appointments, to the vanquished belongs the booty. Z. A. RING.

THE DON'T PAY-AS-YOU-GO PLAN.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The "pay-as-you-go" tax proposal sponsored by Mr. Beardsley Rumi reminds me of a landlord who rented one of his stores to a tenant by the day. He wouldn't give him a lease because the tenant couldn't furnish him with enough security, so every night at 6 o'clock the landlord had to go and collect his rent.

It seems to me that all who favor this pay-as-you-go proposal want to cheat the government. If they want to provide the government with more money, then the people should pay the current taxes as they go, and also part of the 1942 taxes. In other words, divide the 1942 taxes into three instalments, one instalment to be paid in 1943, one in 1944, and the remaining one in 1945. That can be accomplished because everybody is working now and they have money.

The evidence is that we have more billion and 2 billion dollar banks now than at any other time in the history of our country. The corporations already have set aside their 1942 taxes, and from all indications this prosperity will be with us for some time. Isn't it more sensible to pay the due taxes to the government instead of paying the new 16 billion dollass the President is asking for?

G. K. PAPAZOGLIDIS.

SAVED BY FAITH.

Fennville, Mich., Jan. 12.—I am truly grateful that THE TRIBUNE is publishing the story of the rescue of Mr. Rickenbacker and those men who were with him. The only thing that will save the world today and bring lasting peace is faith in God, and because these men humbly trusted God every step of the way and are not ashamed to tell it, the good it will do for the world can never be measured.

MRS. DWIGHT WADSWORTH.

TEN PER CENT CLUB.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—In a few months it will be 12 years since John Bain closed his 13 banks on the south side. So far only 10 per cent has been returned from the Chicago Lawn branch. In my opinion the depositors should have received a larger return than this in 12 years. Can anybody enlighten me on this subject?

J. E. R.

SOILLESS GARDENING.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Let's relieve the farmer. City dwellers, including those in apartments, can help grow some of their food by means of soilless gardening, or chemical farming. If this method is practicable and inexpensive, why isn't now the time for some one who knows to enlighten the multitudes that could profitably stay home week-ends to train up their giant tomatoes on the back porch, or string up a few climbing beans, or start another bed of carrots? H. H. REED.

THE UNCOMMON MAN.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Americans are the most uncommon beings on this little globe, as I view them. I resent being called a common man, even by Mr. Wallace. HAMILTON C. BROWN.

READER INTEREST IN CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Believe it or not, this is a fact from actual experience. Due to my retirement and moving to California, we sent out a Christmas card with a special note written in poetry, giving our friends the news and asking that they call us before the new year. We sent out 100.

In contacting many of our friends, we were surprised to find how few actually read the sentiment expressed and merely looked at the name and discarded them. Actually about 15 per cent read the poem on the inside of the card.

ARTHUR BERG.

CHICKEN FEED.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A budget of 109 billion dollars for the taxpayers of this country! And a Washington news commentator says that trying to save a few billions in nonwar spending is "mere chicken feed." It is just such an attitude on the part of the Washington social workers, burocrats, and spendthrifts that has brought this country to a 109 billion dollar budget. And where, but thru the savings and collections of chicken feed from the taxpayers, will this money come from? After a year or two will the poor old taxpayer have even chicken feed left to buy any food for his chickens? NANCY S. ROGERS.

ALARMING GROWTH OF SEAWEED.

Hegewisch, Ill., Jan. 13.—Where was the state of Illinois when Lake Calumet and Wolf lake were being ruined by seaweeds and bullrushes? I remember when Wolf lake was a very good lake to fish. In fact, it still would be if the state would step in and protect it against the wild growth of seaweed, which will eventually dry this lake up. I know this lake could be saved, many tons of fish could be saved, and many more tons of fish could be raised in it.

ANDREW CHORICH.

CONFISCATION OF SAVINGS?

Denver, Colo., Jan. 4.—If the recent statement by Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.] favoring the compulsory purchase of war bonds means anything at all, it is the confiscation of individual deposits in savings and other banks thruout the United States, and substituting therefor war bonds which cannot be redeemed during the war. AUGUST FAST.

VICTORY TAX EXCEPTIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Do domestic workers, such as house servants, have to pay the 5 per cent Victory tax? Y. O.

No. Domestic, agricultural, and casual workers are expressly excepted by section 465 of the Victory tax chapter. Some of the summaries are deceptive on this point since they state that the tax is imposed upon "every individual." TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Miss Wheeler Will Be Bride of Lt. Palmer

BY JUDITH CASS.

A WEDDING that will unite two old south side families will take place toward the end of the month in Norfolk, Va., where Miss Carolyn Wheeler and Lt. [j. g.] John Higbie Palmer of the naval air corps will be married. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edmonston Wheeler of East 50th street. Lt. Palmer's mother is Mrs. Percival Bowditch Palmer Jr. of East 56th street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Palmer and her daughter, Mrs. H. Ferris White Jr., and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Palmer III. of Hinsdale all are going to Norfolk for the wedding. Its exact date is uncertain as it will depend on Lt. Palmer's one day leave. He has taken a house in Virginia Beach, Va., where he and his pretty bride will start housekeeping.

Margaret Ann Rathje's Wedding to Be Tonight.

Miss Wheeler is a graduate of the University of Chicago and a member of Mortar Board. Lt. Palmer is a graduate of Deerfield academy and of the university. The many young friends of both who will miss congratulating them at their wedding will be able to wish Miss Wheeler good luck tonight at the wedding reception for Miss Margaret Ann Rathje and Jay H. Collin Jr. at the South Shore Country club. Miss Wheeler is to be a bridesmaid for the Merritt W. Rathjes' daughter, who will become Mr. Collin's bride at 8:30 o'clock in Bond chapel. Miss Josephine Rathje, Miss Virginia Alling, Miss Joan Sill, and Miss Sally Adams are the other attendants. The senior Mr. Collin of Shaker Heights, O., will be the best man. Young Mr. and Mrs. Collin will live in St. Joseph, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Lewis of Shreveport, La., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Evelyn, to Lt. Clifford G. Grulee Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Grulee of Evanston. The wedding is planned for the near future, and Lt. Grulee will take his bride to Randolph field, Texas, where he is connected with the research section of the aviation medical school. Lt. Grulee was graduated from Williams college and from Northwestern's medical school.

North Shore Badminton Tournament Wednesday.

The underdogs will have their day at the North Shore Badminton association's tournament planned for next Wednesday night at the Ridge and Valley Badminton club in Glencoe. The club, located at the Glencoe public school, is headed by George Von Gehr, who also is a director of the association. The tournament is closed to "champions," for those who have won previous competitions may not enter again a class in which they once emerged victorious.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Gehr, Helen Fulton Shockley, who is noted as a tennis player; the junior Bentley G. McClouds, the Philip Atwoods, and Miss Florence Christie are some of the strong contenders. Miss Christie's brother, Lt. David Christie, who is completing a course in the army air corps at Harvard university, won the men's singles last year.

Lt. Francis R. Stanton, vice president of the Ridge and Valley, won't be competing this year, for he is serving with the army in Indiana, where Mrs. Stanton and their infant daughter, Suzanne Rew, joined him a few days ago. They have given up their Winnetka house.

One of the oldest north shore badminton clubs is the Winnetka one, headed now by A. Charles Goodrich. It meets on Tuesday nights, Saturday afternoons, and Sundays at the North Shore Country Day school. Some of the members usually entertain at cocktails after the Saturday meetings, and today it is Mr. and Mrs. Harold

Contribute to Silk and Nylon Hosiery Salvage Campaign

Juanita Hansen, Anne Meyer, Charline Osgood, and Helen Clare (left to right), hostesses at the Officers' club in the Knickerbocker hotel, pay the price of admission, one pair of discarded silk or nylon stockings, to the weekly Saturday night dance given for officers stationed in this area. Their contributions have helped the hosiery salvage drive, to which Chicago women already have given more than 140,000 pounds of hosiery. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

New British Consul Discusses Clouded Psychology of Japs

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Sidelights on the characteristics of the Japanese race were given to members of the English Speaking union at a tea yesterday in the Arts club. The speaker was the new British consul in Chicago, Henry Hugh Thomas, who has spent several years in the consular service in Japan and China, and who speaks Japanese.

"My first impression of the Japanese was that here is a people utterly and entirely different from any other on earth," Mr. Thomas told his audience. "On approaching Japan there is a mist over the coast; you can't see anything clearly. The typical Japanese landscape is clouded, and just as there is this physical mist, so is there a psychological miasma."

Mr. Thomas said that at first he found the Japanese friendly and well disposed, but as he got to know them better, other characteristic appeared. Among them he found a deep strain of innate brutality, perhaps ingrown from the race's mixed ancestry and the hundreds of years of bloodthirsty struggles between clans.

The Japanese are taught to believe that it is the immortal destiny of Japan to rule the world, Mr. Thomas stated.

Chauncey McCormick introduced the speaker, who received members and their guests with Frank A. Hecht, president of the union; Mrs. McCormick, and the British consul general, Wilfred H. Gallienne.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Women who reside in the Chicago metropolitan area can be justly proud of their response to the silk and nylon hosiery salvage program, which was started the middle of November. More than 140,000 pounds of discarded stockings already have been shipped from the 118 communities in the area, which means that approximately 2,800,000 pairs of stockings are on their way to war production centers of the Defense Supplies corporation.

Approximately 15 pairs of silk stockings are needed to make one average size gunpowder bag. Thus the material for 186,000 bags has been supplied to aid in this project on the home front.

The drive will continue indefinitely, and even if you have contributed many pairs of stockings you can no longer wear, keep them rolling into the depots which have been established in stores and shops in Chicago and outlying districts.

Thirty-five Red Cross canteen workers will be on duty tonight from midnight until 3 a. m., serving an aftershow snack to soldiers of the "This Is the Army" company. Mobile canteens will roll up to the entrance, and the workers will dispense coffee, sandwiches, and dessert.

Mrs. Henriques Crawford, chairman of the canteen corps, will direct the serving, and Miss Harriet McLaughlin, motor corps chairman, assisted by Miss Nancy Bastien, will direct the fleet of station wagons and two mobile canteens, one Red Cross owned, the other lent for the occasion by the Commonwealth Edison company.

Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general of the 6th service command, yesterday announced the appointment of 47 nurses to the army nurse corps, with the relative rank of lieutenant. Of that total 29 are from the Chicago area.

With more than 300 nurses in the Cook county, Loyola, and Presbyterian hospital units scheduled to leave this month for duty, an intensive campaign to recruit nurses for the army and navy has been started by the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. Full responsibility for the recruiting has been accepted by the Red Cross, at the request of the surgeons general of the army and navy.

A grandmother and her daughter were among the 60 women sworn into the WAAC yesterday at the induction station, 166 West Van Buren street.

The grandmother—believed to be the first in the WAAC—is Mrs. Glenna L. Wilson, 44 years old, of 1553 North Clark street, formerly in national advertising. She was inducted with her daughter, Mrs. Treva Ione Thomas, 24, of the same address. Mrs. Wilson enlisted, she said, because for the first time in her life she was without responsibilities, and decided to take on new ones that might help win the war. Her daughter, an archaeologist, is the wife of a lieutenant in the air force.

Ensign Mary Kennedy of the SPARS arrived in Chicago yesterday, the first member of the Coast Guard auxiliary to report in this area for duty. She will begin her official duties on Monday as recruiting officer for the SPARS in the 9th naval district. She is among the first 12 graduated from the Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn. A native of Massachusetts, Ensign Kennedy was a personnel executive in a large New York department store before her induction.

Ensign Mary Kennedy.

Eleven more young women left yesterday for Northampton, Mass., to enter the WAVES officers' training school at Smith college. Upon completing their training they will receive commissions and be assigned to duty within the continental United States. Those leaving were Clara M. Berghoefer, Ruth E. Chrisman, Anne M. Dorsey, Lois E. Horlick, C. A. Kanouff, Wilma L. McEncroe, Alma Caroline Nespital, Dorothy E. Nichols, Josephine O. Oudyn, Nancy C. Stirton, and Helen L. Sunderman.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

College Club Speaker.

H. Paul Juergens will be the speaker and special guest at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon today at the Chicago College club, 30 North Michigan avenue. His talk will be on "Precious Stones."

Adeline Zach Sings with Range and Color in Tasteful Recital

Adeline Zach, a handsome mezzo soprano with a potentially beautiful voice, appeared at Kimball hall last night in a recital which shared the young singer's most forgivable fault, that of putting the cart of repertory before the horse of technique. Miss Zach's is a good voice with plenty of range and color, and she has the imagination, taste and industry to invade the rich field of beautiful and subtle songs. But before she can realize either, her own resources or those of the music she sings, she will have to concentrate on a focal line which she is able to sustain and support.

Wool Covers for Feet Defy Wintry Blasts

BY REA SEEGER.

Looking for something to keep your feet warm? See the all-wool foot covers in the hosiery department, designed for chilly feet. They are made of a gray and white wool mixture and are copied from the collapsible pullman slipper, neatly tailored and fitted. Slip them on over your stockings, then tuck your shivering toes inside house lounging footgear and let the wind and winter weather blow. They might even be used as bed slippers in a pinch, and they're traveling companions par excellence; just what you need for the breezy wastes of a northbound sleeper.

New kinds of hosiery also are indicative of what the hobbled hosiery makers can do with cotton and rayon. Not in the least daunted by the demands of exacting women or the diminishing supplies of materials, these wizards are sending in each week new ideas of smooth, flattering perfection. There are some new east to west ribbing, alternate thin striped affairs for tweeds, winter woolens, and sports clothes that promise good company.

Three shades include a stunning copper tone, a dark gray, and a good looking neutral blue a little lighter and much more flattering than a navy. The exceedingly narrow ribs are of alternate light and dark tones of the gray, blue, or copper. The toes and heels are of dark, solid colors, brown with the copper, oxford gray with the gray, and deep blue with the lighter blue.

The rayons feature a shade called "mist" that is the very last word in smooth, sheer texture and skin flattery. They look so much like silk that even the experts are fooled. Then, as the final grand gesture, see the ribbed evening weight hosiery with vertical shadow ribbing in wine red, black, and steel gray. They are surprisingly sheer and the vertical ribbing adds another slenderizing trick.

Wedding

At 10 o'clock this morning in St. Giles church, Oak Park, Miss Kathleen Murphy will become the bride of Lt. William Jerome Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Carroll of Oak Park. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irma Murphy of North Taylor avenue. Following the wedding there will be a breakfast at the Central Plaza hotel. Lt. Carroll and his bride will be at home in Baltimore, Md., near his army post.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Of Captains and Patience.

A young lady we know received a surprise call the other night from her husband, captain of a destroyer. After months at sea he had come unexpectedly into port. Would she please catch the next train there? He would wait. As she caught the train, friends, cognizant of his words, gave her a copy of "Quietly My Captain Waits." Just then a messenger rushed up with a three word wire from the captain: "Hurry. Hurry. Hurry."

Of Dutch Babies.

Mention in the news that Bernhard of the Netherlands has flown from England to Canada to be with his wife, Juliana, at the birth of their third child, recalled to Nellie E. Mitchell the days she spent in Holland in January, 1938, when the birth of the royal couple's first child, Beatrix, was awaited. As January grew and waned and no baby appeared, frugal Dutch merchants and manufacturers became more and more tense, for they had manufactured innumerable baby souvenirs of the great event, and each was dated "January." Many were the false arousals of hope, but one of the more amazing took place in a small village outside Rotterdam. A man of 79, a member of one of the three churches in the village, died. At the hour of his funeral the bells of his church began to toll, as did those of the church of which his wife was a member. Hearing the two sets of bells ring out, the sexton of the third church decided an heir to the throne had been born and raced to his belfry, where he set up a joyous pealing of his bells. At this sound the villagers raced to the streets, hanging flags, blowing whistles, tooting horns and ringing smaller bells. Only one questioned the pealing. This was an alderman who hastened to the third church and asked the sexton what he was doing. The sexton explained, and so, in more caustic vein, did the alderman; the joyous pealing ceased. And the villagers retrieved their flags to retire dolefully indoors while the bells of the two churches continued to toll their honorary, somber 79 strokes.

Leopard and Its Spots.

From Ward Walker, a compatriot who now is a private in the marines attending the "boot" school at San Diego, comes this intimate vignette of a fellow private:

"I had lunch the other day with Tyrone Power. While the conversation was animated, all I could get from T. was, 'Toss me a hunk of bread.' About that time the mess sergeant bellowed, 'Knock off the chatter, youse!' and we did. Tyrone and I and 1,500 other boots returned to our chores.

"He is six platoons behind me. His hair is short, too, and he seems to be a regular guy with a chance of becoming a good marine. And it is surprising how he manages still to look like Tyrone in G. I. clothes hanging over a washtub scrubbing his underwear."

Thru the Looking Glass

A lotion for between-shampoo hair cleansings is a boon for the girl or woman working in heavy industry who finds that her hair picks up a lot of grime. She'll usually find, too, that working at top speed in grimy surroundings steps up the scalp perspiration and the oil flow.

It's not feasible for such women to shampoo their hair as often as they'd like to. In these days of "sets" following the shampoo there's more to hair washing than just dousing the head in soap and water.

Wearing a light protective turban or a handkerchief helps a great deal. This should be loose, however; if it's too tight it can easily cause a headache and the constriction isn't at all healthy for the scalp. A loose, porous kind of a scarf [one without flying ends] will protect the hair from dirt and from accidents, and is widely recommended not only by the women who've adopted it, but by safety directors.

Using a lotion a couple of nights a week will clean and freshen the scalp and polish up the hair shafts. There is an excellent one on the market, applied with cotton after the hair is parted into sections, that makes the scalp feel beautifully clean and that removes a great deal of the surface dirt. It will help keep hair sparkling and well groomed between visits to the beauty shop, and its application takes very little time. It won't shorten the life of a permanent either. ELEANOR NANGLE.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Home, Sweet Temporary Home.

Next time you make a hotel your temporary home, pity the housekeeper, for she must worry about the belongings you leave behind. If you are true to type, being a woman, you are a much more "worrisome thing" to the management than a man who packs his clean shirt and razor and is off. At least, that is the opinion of one housekeeper, Lora Hackett, of the Seneca hotel. Women, she says, are the real offenders in leaving things behind. Of course, she concedes, men often do check out and then call up in a perfect state of frenzy because of business correspondence and telegrams left on the dresser and—alas—thrown out. They also have been known to walk off and leave their bedroom slippers under the bed.

Women leave practically everything. They will do a small washing, wrap it in a towel and place it on the hamper. Out it goes with the soiled linen to the laundry, and then what a scurry to try to locate the lost articles! But—and here's a quirk in human nature—often things of real value will be left which no one will claim, even tho the hotel notifies the departed guest, whereas an old toothbrush boasting three bristles will cause great distress if left by the owner. One woman called long distance at considerable expense about a 10 cent store ring. Another woman departed and left the sterilizer and bottles for baby.

"What things do women leave most frequently?" I asked. It used to be hairpins, but women now are prizing them like diamonds. Nighties, the most usually left handed articles, if frilly and glamorous, invariably are claimed by the owner.

Too Old?

An unsigned note in the mail: "I keep wondering if the war plants really want women workers. Why wouldn't a few of the newer plants think of including a large room in charge of a matron who could keep an eye on children while the mother is on the job? Just the knowledge that they were off the streets would enable many married women with one to three children to work. Also, trained radio operators [women] should not have too much trouble finding positions but they do. Industry can't be seriously interested in women or such things wouldn't exist. Or maybe 30 is much too old?

Hints to the Head Man.

"If management is properly defined as the conscious direction of forces, is management confined solely to executives? To what extent do employés manage? Do greatest advances thru industrial thought come as the result of individual or group thinking? Is the point of origin of an idea of as much significance as the care with which it is surveyed?"—Erwin H. Schell.

New Murder Mystery Comedy Is All Berle and a Smile Wide

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"It's pure Milton Berle!" some one in the projection room remarked.

Parsdoxical—but true. "Over My Dead Body," a comedy-murder mystery, is really cleanly as to subject matter and its quips and quirks are typically Berleian.

I would walk a mile to keep from seeing or hearing Mr. Berle on the stage, but in this opus I found him both unquestionable and funny.

He plays a writer of mystery fiction who, at the time the picture opens, has never succeeded in completing a story. . . . Result—the cupboard is bare and his beauteous wife [Mary Beth Hughes], is about to leave him.

Then he stumbles onto a REAL MURDER! Circumstances surrounding same so closely resemble his latest unfinished work that he plunges into the solving of it and proves that things can work out allee samee in life as on paper.

Considerable suspense is maintained. Acting and direction fit the script. The picture is raucous, ridiculous, and, at times, highly amusing.

See you tomorrow.

"OVER MY DEAD BODY."
Produced by 20th Century-Fox studio.
Directed by Malcolm St. Clair.
From a novel by James O'Hanlon.
Presented at the Apollo theater.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 15.—Billy Wilder introduced me to Peter Van Eyck on the set of "Five Graves to Cairo" yesterday and then told me his story. They were friends. Peter's a songwriter; has done many things for Hildegarde, among them "There's My Heart" and "Dream On." But couldn't get into that racket here, so he took a job driving a truck. Ran into Billy and said, "Could you get me anything—an extra part—anything?" So Billy phoned his friend, Nunnally Johnson, and said, "Listen, Nunnally, I've got a great actor here I'd like you to meet. I think he'd suit one of those parts in 'The Moon Is Down.'" "Send him over." He went, got a test, and one of the leading rôles. . . . Came the time for Billy to cast "Five Graves to Cairo," and he needed Helmut Dantine, who was so good as the German flyer in "Mrs. Miniver." He wasn't available. So Billy thought of Peter. Called up Nunnally, said, "How was that actor I sent you?" The reply was, "Great!" Now Peter's got the part with Billy and is up for a long term contract at Paramount. He has naturalness, force, and—thank heaven—doesn't look like an actor. But they'll have enough actors in that. They've got Franchot Tone and Von Stroheim playing Rommel. . . . I commiserated with Anne Baxter, who's playing the lead in it, about not getting "Bernadette." She said, "Really, I don't mind, Hedda. This part's just as good."

Hurray for Love!

No one was more surprised than I when Ginger Rogers told me she was about to marry Jack Briggs. Ginger's worked so hard going from one picture to another and getting her salary up to $175,000 per picture that she's had very little time for relaxation, and lots of close friends worried that she was missing the greatest thing in life, which is marriage to the right man. Well, she's found him. And like any other girl these days she wants that marriage to take place soon as possible. No one knows how soon he'll be ordered overseas. You know the marines' motto—"The marines have landed and have the situation well in hand."

Victory Gets 'Em.

Lester Cowan, producer of "Commandos Strike at Dawn," phoned from New York that preview of the picture in Washington, sponsored by the Norwegian ambassador, was a thrilling sight. Over a thousand members of all nations came in buses, street cars, and afoot. In Buffalo, picture opened in a defense plant, was over at 5 a. m., and he said, "You've never heard such applause." He wouldn't have believed it possible. Wants to do the same thing in Los Angeles, either at Lockheed or Douglas. He was surprised the hit it made with women. He'd been told they won't go for war pictures. They will if there's victory at the finish of it. . . . Lester's waiting in New York for an interview with Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Wrong Guy.

Sorry I got my Englishmen mixed up. I had Charlie Laughton being spoon fed by his hired hand on the set and find out now it wasn't "Butch" at all—but Brian Aherne. I'm told Laughton's latest picture, "This Land Is Mine," is the best he's done. Studio's keeping it under wraps so the public can discover that for themselves. . . . Dudley Nichols, one of the few writers who's seen "For Whom the Bell Tolls," tells me it's one of the greatest if not the greatest picture ever turned out in Hollywood. . . . Otto Preminger's wife is arriving to spend the rest of the winter with him. Otto has been assigned for "Candle in the Wind." Yes, he's a Nazi again, and they're calling him "the man you love to hate."

The Stage

By Cecil Smith

Not in a number of years have most of the downtown theaters emptied themselves of their tenants with such unanimity as there is tonight. Only two plays continue past tonight—"Good Night, Ladies," the champion at the Blackstone, and "Maid in the Ozar's" at the Great Northern. The latter play printed a closing notice in its advertising last Tuesday, but withdrew it the next day.

After a fortnight's business estimated in the neighborhood of $200,000, "This Is the Army" finishes its capacity engagement at the Civic Opera house tonight. The players will travel, rest, and probably engage in military activities until next Thursday, when a 10 day stand begins in Los Angeles. A San Francisco booking may follow before work begins on the film version. Beyond the commitment to the Hollywood movie studios, the future of the big show is still uncertain. The war department has not decided whether to send it abroad to entertain the soldiers in foreign service. Irving Berlin would like to see it go, and would travel with it.

"Junior Miss," something of a disappointment to Producer Max Gordon, whose ideas of casting did not entirely ring the bell, and who seemingly had forgotten that Chicago likes its plays to be as discreetly directed as they are in New York, withdraws from the Harris theater tonight after 17 weeks. After all, that isn't bad, but Mr. Gordon had hoped for more. The fine revival of "Porgy and Bess" at the Studebaker moves to St. Louis tonight, after 11 weeks in town.

Zasu Pitts' ill advised venture in "Her First Murder" did not bear much fruit at the box office, and accordingly the Erlanger will be dark after tonight until "Life with Father" returns two weeks hence, on Feb. 1. "The Merry Widow" leave the Selwyn tonight after two and one-half weeks, to be replaced tomorrow by the return engagement of "Watch on the Rhine." Next week's other incoming plays are "The Eve of St. Mark" at the Harris on Monday and "Lady in the Dark" at the Civic Opera house on Tuesday.

There are so many good recipes to be printed in our group of "honorable mentions" today that there's not much room for repeating the rules of our recipe contest. But if you're anxious to win one of those $5 prizes awarded each day, just skim to the bottom of this column where you'll find a brief statement of the rules of the contest.

And now on to the honorable mention awards.

Appetizer Soup.
[Serves four.]

3½ cups canned tomatoes
1 large onion, diced
2 teaspoons sugar
1 small bay leaf
1 large stalk celery with leaves, chopped
1 teaspoon salt

Simmer all ingredients together for half an hour. Strain. Thicken with 1 tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste with a small amount of water. Serve hot in bouillon cups.

MISS MELANIE MALZEN,
908 W. 86th place, Chicago, Ill.

Old Fashioned Marrow Dumplings.
[About 40 small dumplings.]

1 egg well beaten
Dash of salt
Nutmeg to taste
3 tablespoons rendered and strained marrow
8 soda crackers [about]
½ teaspoon baking powder

Add salt, nutmeg, and marrow to beaten egg. Roll crackers fine and put thru sieve. Add to first mixture along with baking powder. Use enough cracker crumbs to make a dough that can be handled. Let stand a few minutes after mixing. Then roll in hands into small balls the size of marbles. Steam in a clear soup until done, about 15 minutes. Serve in the soup.

MRS. A. W. BANG,
1226 Norwood av., Chicago, Ill.

Stuffed Acorn Squash.
[Serve four.]

2 large acorn squash, split lengthwise
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons apple sauce
½ pound pork sausage meat

Place cleaned squash, cut side down, on greased baking pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Turn right side up and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread cavities with apple sauce and place a browned sausage patty in each. Return to oven and bake 30 minutes longer or until sausage is done and squash is tender. Garnish with parsley.

MRS. GWENDOLYN LEWIS,
321 S. Stone av., La Grange, Ill.

Danish Biscuits.
[One dozen small biscuits.]

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cake yeast [large 1 oz. size]
1 teaspoon sugar
½ cup butter
1 egg
¼ cup sour milk
1 teaspoon vinegar

Put flour, salt, yeast, sugar, and butter in bowl and chop together with knife. Beat whole egg until light and lemon colored and add milk and vinegar. Add to first mixture, mixing lightly. Let rise in cold place for 10 hours. Mix lightly with spoon and drop spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Make depression in center of each and fill with jam. Let rise 1 hour in cold spot; then 20 minutes in warm room. Bake 20 minutes or until done in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar if desired.

MRS. CAROLINE HOILUND,
5631 W. Lake st., Chicago, Ill.

Tomato Rice.
[One and one-half quarts.]

2 cups tomato juice
1 cup light corn sirup
1 teaspoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
¾ cup boiling water
4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar

Combine tomato juice and corn sirup. Soften gelatin in cold water, then dissolve in boiling water. When cool add to the tomato juice and corn sirup. Add lemon juice and rind and pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Freeze until mushy. Remove and beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites into which the sugar has been beaten. Return to freezing tray and freeze until firm. Whip with fork half hour before serving time. Serve as an appetizer or with main course.

MRS. ROBERT T. EDWARDS,
Delphos, O.

A prize of $5 is awarded each day to the best recipe of any kind submitted. Recipes entered should be economical in the use of rationed foods and other foods which are not readily available. All holiday recipes should be submitted at least one month in advance. It's now time to send in Valentine and patriotic holiday recipes. In submitting your entry please follow these simple rules:

1. Choose any tried and true recipe that is well liked by family and friends.

2. Type or write it legibly, listing ingredients in the order of use and giving standard, level measurements.

3. Include such helpful information as number of servings, time, oven temperature, and size of pan.

4. Send only one recipe at a time.

5. Write your name and address on each sheet of paper and address your entry to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Students Need Redirection of College Goals

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

One day last spring I was talking to a prominent neurologist about our young men in college, and the war.

"My son is a junior at ——," he said. "He has been completely unsettled for a long time. Many of the boys didn't come back after the winter vacation, and others didn't return after the spring recess. My son has, well, a physical defect which would keep him from passing his physical examination, so he can't enlist. But his work at the university seemed futile to him for months, so much so that he was on the point of throwing it all up. He's gifted and it seemed such a waste for him to do that. Finally, we talked it all over. The last time he was home for the week-end I was deeply pleased to see that he had at last evened off and was settling down steadily to work again."

This conversation was interesting to me, because it discussed the state of mind of many young people today. In fact, a question relevant to it is one of the many received by the Child Study Association of America and answered in their booklet, "Children in Wartime." The question and reply are quoted below:

"What can we say to our children who cannot see the sense of going to school or college right now? Even the boys and girls of high school age are impatient about school and insist that they want to do something about the war."

Their feeling is natural. We all want to do something about it. Yet, many of all ages can make their best contribution by going on with their regular work. Many young people should be encouraged to serve directly. Others of high school or even college age will, for the present at least, serve their country best by continuing and in some cases intensifying their school work.

Parents and teachers can rightfully point out to them the need for a generation trained and equipped to make a good peace and to rebuild a shattered world. School people have already begun to see that their work cannot go on as if nothing unusual was happening. Studies of many kinds will have to be redirected so that school work will be more meaningful to youth in a world at war.

We must expect these boys and girls to be restless and to demand some immediate part in the war. The best thought of our various youth organizations, Scouts, Boys' clubs, Campfire Girls, and the like, should be given to finding ways of directing into useful community work the young people's energies, enthusiasms, and capacity for high devotion.

[This booklet by the Child Study association was written before the 18-19 draft.]

Barnes' turn to have the cocktail gathering. John W. Miller and Mrs. Latham Jacobs have been treasurer and secretary of the club for several years.

Junior Frederick Boyntons Are Parents of Third Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Boynton Jr. [Margaret La Shelle] are being congratulated on the birth of their third son, Peter Leavenworth, on Wednesday at the Evanston Hospital. The baby's middle name is for the family of his paternal grandmother, the senior Mrs. Boynton.

Mrs. Perry Shepard of Geneva, N. Y., is arriving today from Richmond, Va., where Lt. Col. Shepard is stationed, to visit her sister, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson. After a few days in town Mrs. Shepard will go to Lake Forest to be with Mrs. James B. Forgan.

The British consul general and Mrs. Wilfred H. Gallienne are giving a dinner party at home tomorrow night for Dr. A. Ramaswami Mudaliar. Sir Ramaswami, representative of India in the British war cabinet, will speak at the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations next Tuesday at the Hotel Sherman.

Virginia Parker to Be Bride This Afternoon.

A stunning bride today will be Miss Virginia Parker, whose slim figure and sparkling good looks are familiar to St. Luke's Fashion show regulars. She and Malcolm Ross Byron are being married in the presence of the families at 4:30 o'clock in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cummings Parker. The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson will officiate, and a small reception will follow. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Parker. After a month's wedding trip to the southwest Mr. Byron and his bride will be at home at the Ambassador East.

Miss Nancy Ashenhurst and Haskell Wexler will be married quietly at 4:30 o'clock today in the Belden avenue home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ashenhurst. Neither Miss Ashenhurst nor her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wexler of North Lincoln Park West, will be attended. Mr. Wexler will take his bride to New York, from where he expects to sail soon as a member of the merchant marine.

Miss Ashenhurst and her fiancé both attended the Francis Parker school. Later she went to Vassar college and he to the University of California.

Patriotic Lapel Dolls

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted lapel ornaments of a soldier, sailor, and marine offer a novelty in the field of attractive gadgets. These little figures are simple and inexpensive to create, yet they abound in personality. They may be worn singly or in a group.

For instructions in crocheting the lapel dolls, No. 1242, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

When one partner goes out of his way, and takes considerable risk, to point out what he feels will be the best line of defense, the other partner should fall into line unless he has absolute knowledge that his own idea is better. Note today's hand:

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	2 hearts	2 spades
3 spades	4 spades	Double	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	6 spades
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

East's three spade cue bid was, of course, a subtle lie, the object of which was to talk the opponents out of a spade opening when East reached the slam he so fully intended reaching. Despite the vulnerability conditions, North decided to "save" against the slam, figuring that he could afford to go down three tricks [800 points] as against the 980 points that would accrue to East-West for a fulfilled slam.

When it came to the play, East recognized fully that the contract would have to be defeated four tricks as compensation for the slam in hearts, and aimed his defense at that objective. Unfortunately, his partner did not see eye to eye with him. The opening lead was the diamond jack. Dummy played low, but East still overtook with the diamond queen and deliberately underled the A-K of hearts. West, to his great surprise, won with a low heart. If he had stopped to think for a moment, he would have had to realize that the only possible justification for East's plays was that East was void of clubs and wanted to ruff a club return. [Otherwise there could have been no conceivable reason for East's underplaying his A-K of hearts.] But West knew he had two sure club tricks and saw no reason to "jeopardize" one by a club return. Instead, he led a spade. Declarer won and ruffed the heart jack, then started clubs. West made his two club tricks, all right, but these, with one heart and one diamond, defeated the contract only 800 points, not enough to compensate for the lost heart slam. A club return by West at the third trick, when East demanded it, would have resulted in a 1,100 point penalty and a top on the board.

P. T. A. Executives Ponder Problems of Voluntary Work

Executive board members of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, in Chicago for a two day closed business conference, outlined yesterday, before their first session, some of the volunteer services made necessary in the second war year.

The withdrawal, beginning next month, of 51,000 WPA cooks, helpers and supervisors from school lunch rooms, returns to the communities the responsibility of providing meals for school children. Some are meeting the problem by supplying funds for salaries to retain the WPA workers after their release, but for the most part the work will be done by P. T. A. volunteers. Preparatory classes in nutrition values for those who will serve are being organized.

In line with the feeding program, the organization plans to promote school gardens and summer canning to provide "food banks" against emergency needs.

Emphasizing that the primary purpose of the P. T. A. is the welfare and protection of children, Mrs. William Kletzer of Portland, Ore., the national president, declared the group would "strenuously oppose" any move for the exploitation of children as cheap labor under pretext of the war emergency.

"We believe that all the protective labor laws for children must be upheld," Mrs. Kletzer said. "This does not mean that young people should not take an active part in war service, such as helping with the harvesting of crops and other emergency needs, but their patriotic work should be part of the common community effort, and they must not be exploited as a group."

MICHIGAN DEALS WISCONSIN SECOND DEFEAT, 38 TO 34

LEAD CHANGES 16 TIMES; KOTZ GETS 7 POINTS

Loss Jolts Badgers' Title Hopes.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 15 [Special].—The first major upset of the 1943 Big Ten basketball season occurred tonight when Michigan beat Wisconsin, 38 to 34, in a game in which the lead changed 16 times. The defeat, second in a row for the Badgers, may have knocked them out of contention for the conference title. It was Michigan's first conference victory in three games.

Johnny Kotz, Wisconsin's conference scoring champion, was held to seven points by Sophomore Dave Strack, Wolverine guard.

Michigan Takes Lead.

Michigan grabbed an early 5 to 0 lead, but four points by Bob Sullivan, who was the game's high point man with 11, helped put Wisconsin ahead, 6 to 5.

During the rest of the first half the clubs traded baskets with the lead alternating. With five minutes to go the Wolverines moved out in front, 17 to 12, on a long toss by Mel Comin and Capt. Jim Mandler's pivot shot. Ray Patterson and Kotz cut the lead to 17 to 16 before the half ended.

Strack and Comin scored to open the second half, and Michigan again had a three point edge, 21 to 18. The Badgers closed the gap, and Kotz made it 25-all with a long push shot. Patterson picked up three points, and with 10 minutes to go, Wisconsin led, 28 to 25.

Comin Fouls Out.

Mandler and Strack combined for a pair of baskets, however, that put Michigan in front again, 29 to 28. Sullivan and Comin traded shots, then Comin added a free throw, but Sullivan tied it at 32 with a push shot from the corner.

Kotz was fouled by Comin for the latter's fourth of the game, and he was replaced by Bob Wiese. Kotz made good on the free throw, but Leo Doyle grabbed a rebound and looped in a basket that gave Michigan the edge, 34 to 33.

Wiese and Mandler added baskets before the game ended, while Sullivan's final free throw was all Wisconsin could pick up in the last two minutes despite rushing tactics used in an effort to get control of the ball.

The teams meet here again tomorrow night.

Hawks to Face Wings Tonight and Tomorrow

Games Tonight

Montreal at Toronto.
New York at Boston.
Chicago at Detroit.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, who like to travel only to look at the scenery, will play the Detroit Red Wings tonight as the last stop on a three town jaunt that thus far has been pretty devastating. They haven't won a game in Detroit since St. Patrick's day, 1940, a reflection that doesn't encourage too much optimism for tonight.

The Hawks got to Detroit filled with memories of a 3 to 0 licking in Boston Tuesday night and a 5 to 1 jolting in Montreal Thursday night. The fact that they had scored one goal since beating the Red Wings in a 2 to 1 thriller here last Sunday night didn't offer much solace, for it was made after the Canadiens had made all five of their tallies.

They May Win—It's Saturday.

The Hawks, who will be opening the second half of their season tonight, have won one of their 12 games on the road this season. And it was on a Saturday night, if that lends any hope for tonight. On Nov. 14 the Hawks defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4 to 3.

There was some screaming for help from the Hawk travelers yesterday, so Cully Dahlstrom was rushed to Detroit to see what he could do about making Chicago's road defeats seem less humiliating than by counts such as 3 to 0 and 5 to 1.

Max to Be Ready.

Max Bentley, leading Chicago point maker, who stayed home from the eastern trip to nurse injuries received in the Detroit game here last Sunday night, has healed to the point where he will be able to play in tomorrow night's encounter in the Stadium.

4 BIG TEN GAMES TONIGHT FEATURE HEAVY SCHEDULE

Notre Dame Battles N. U. on Stadium Card.

While Chicago's basketball fans tonight are enjoying the fourth double header of the Stadium season, the Western conference leaders, Illinois, Indiana, and Purdue, will be about their business of maintaining their undefeated position. The task should not be particularly difficult for any of the trio.

The Stadium program tonight matches Notre Dame and Northwestern in the first game at 8:15. This is the feature of the evening, despite the Wildcats' earlier nine point licking by the Irish on the same court. In the second game, which will start shortly before 10 o'clock, De Paul university, winner of 11 games in 12, will be host to the Broncos from Western Michigan.

Hoosiers Sure to Win.

Indiana's unbeaten quintet, twice victor over Ohio State last week-end, will wallop Chicago tonight in their conference game in the Maroons' fieldhouse. The Hoosiers scored 61 points Monday evening against the Buckeyes and can break the all-time Big Ten scoring record of 69 points tonight if they bear down. Purdue plays at Minnesota, and Illinois, defending conference champion, opens a series with Iowa tonight in Champaign.

Wisconsin will play its second game in the series that started last night with a 38 to 34 victory for Michigan in the Wolverines' fieldhouse. Ohio State is not scheduled.

Mills Remembers Upset.

While Illinois, defending conference champion, should dispose of Iowa tonight, Coach Doug Mills and his veterans cannot forget the upset last year in Iowa City in the game following the night the Illini had clinched the 1942 title. Moreover, Ken Menke, who missed the Wisconsin game Monday evening because of an injured foot, is not expected to play, altho he may be ready Monday evening for the second engagement between the teams.

Mills will start Ed Parker, who turned in a fine performance in Madison, where he replaced Menke. The Illini apparently are headed for a season record attendance. In the opening conference game 6,634 saw Illinois defeat Michigan. Prior to this, 6,835 saw it beat Stanford. George Huff gymnasium seats 7,098 but allowance must be made for bandsmen and ushers.

Purdue May Have Trouble.

Purdue's inexperienced team may have difficulty at Minnesota, in view of the Gophers' even split with Iowa, but the Boilermakers' quick breaking style of game may run over the Gopher defenders. Purdue will be favored, if for no other reason than its steady improvement since the Boilermakers were beaten by De Paul last December.

Busy Day Ahead for Maroons; They'll Even Try Basketball

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The University of Chicago squash racquets team will meet a six man team from Northwestern university's downtown campus in an informal match under the west stand of Stagg field, beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Maroons are undefeated in seven matches. Don Price will play No. 1 for the host team.

[The University of Chicago basketball team has won or shared in the Western conference championship seven times, the last having been in 1924.]

Maroon fencers, long among the best in the Big Ten, will open their conference season this afternoon by trading en gardes and ripostes with Purdue in Lafayette. They won their opener against Notre Dame last week.

[The University of Chicago basketball team defeated Minnesota, 35 to 32, on Feb. 18, 1940. The Maroon quintet has lost all 32 conference games it has played since then.]

Remember Mr. Stampf?

Chicago's wrestlers open their 1943 season in the Midway fieldhouse at 9 o'clock this evening against Wheaton college. The meet will be a test of Coach Spyros Vorres' large group of sophomores. The only veterans certain of their posts are Bud Yates, 136 pounds; Dick Reynolds, 145 pounds, and Bob Mustain, heavyweight.

[Chicago's losing basketball streak continued on March 3, 1941, as it wound up the season by losing to Indiana, but Capt. Joe Stampf came out of the game as individual conference scoring champion with a total of 165 points. His free throw total of 81 still stands as a Big Ten record.]

Swimmers Test Lawrence.

Hard hit by enlistments in the army and navy, the Maroon swimming team will dive into its season by meeting Lawrence college in the Ida Noyes hall tank at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Craig Leman is expected to be the main point getter for Chicago in the sprints and breast stroke, while Bill Baugher, who will lead the team, will work the distance free style events.

[The University of Chicago basketball team overpowered Illinois Tech, 43 to 29, on Dec. 6, 1941, the eve of Pearl Harbor. That was the last basketball victory of any kind the Maroons have scored. Camp Grant made it 27 defeats in a row for them last Monday night.]

The Piece de Resistance.

The University of Chicago basketball team will play its second conference game of the 1943 season against Indiana university tonight in the Midway fieldhouse, beginning at 8 o'clock. Last year Indiana defeated the Maroons, 63 to 34 and 51 to 20. Thus far this season, the Hoosiers have won nine straight.

[There, there, all you Maroon fans! That losing streak of 32 is not the conference record—yet. The mark is 33, held by a Chicago quintet which lost its last two games in 1935, all of its games in 1936 and 1937, and the first two in 1938. And that team, for the first 14 games of the streak, included one Bill Haarlow.]

MAGNATES STILL HAVE PROBLEMS; ONE IS SALARIES

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

What can be offered the boys in the shape of wages for next season? This problem gradually is putting pressure back on the big league magnates, who only recently relieved themselves of their wartime spring training problem as it pertained to rail miles.

The magnates would like to get under way on contracts, this being the time of year when such documents are filled out and mailed to the athletes, for better or worse.

At the moment, however, they can't turn a wheel and thus get their desks cleared for a winter vacation. They must languish in their swivel chairs, gaze at contract blanks and hope there will not be much more delay in Washington on a ruling clearing up whether or not a ball player can be tendered a salary boost or a trim.

Believe Law May Not Apply.

Unofficially, the major league clubs have been given the idea that, because ball players were not actually at work when the wage freeze became effective Oct. 3, the law will not be operative in their cases for the coming season. But the magnates, while pointing out, rightfully, that they don't know what it is all about, are at least conscious of a penalty provision, so are sitting tight at the advice of American and National league attorneys.

There also is the possibility that Washington, instead of ruling ball players were out of work with the closing of the season, might decide the salaries paid them were for the full year of 1942, thus eliminating the possible Oct. 3 exemption.

Sox May Shift Site.

The White Sox are figuring they might change their training camp, but the change, if made, would involve only a bit more walking per diem for the athletes. When the Sox and Cub sites were selected recently, the latter decided to camp on the golf course, just outside the door of the French Lick Springs, Ind., hotel and the Sox elected to do their chores on a spot about a third of a mile distant.

Now it seems the Sox figure it might be advisable to move into what formerly was a ball park, the surviving indications being a small grandstand and a few fence boards. Going there would involve a two mile hike each day.

TRIALS START AT 2 O'CLOCK IN GARFIELD PARK

30 Clubs Entered in 26th Derbies.

Skate Facts

EVENT—Twenty-sixth Silver Skates Derbies sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

PLACE—Garfield park, west lagoon, Washington boulevard and Hamlin avenue.

PROGRAM—Qualifying races in four age classes—boys' midget, boys' juvenile, boys' junior, and girls' junior.

INSTRUCTIONS—All competitors in these Derbies report between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. in warming house for racing numbers.

FIRST RACE—2 o'clock.

TRANSPORTATION — Buses, Washington boulevard No. 31 to Central Park boulevard; Jackson boulevard No. 26 to same boulevard and walk north. Surface lines, Lake street and Madison street cars to Central Park boulevard or Hamlin avenue. Elevated, Lake street elevated to Hamlin avenue.

PARKING—Single lane parking along south of Central Park boulevard, Washington boulevard, Schrader and McCrea drives.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The 26th annual Silver Skates races will start this afternoon in Garfield park with preliminaries for four classes in which contestants are under 16 years of age. The first trial race will be held at 2 o'clock on the west lagoon of the park. All contestants, however, must report to the clerks between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. in the warming house to receive racing numbers.

The Derbies in which trials will be held this afternoon are boys' midget, under 12 years of age; boys' juvenile, 12 and 13 years of age; boys' junior, 14 and 15 years of age, and girls' junior, under 16 years of age.

The races will be held this afternoon regardless of the temperature. The lagoon is frozen to a depth of more than 12 inches, twice the depth required for safety.

Title Courses Laid Out.

Races today will be decided over an eighth mile course. Tomorrow's preliminaries in the other four age classes and the eight championships will be decided over a sixth of a mile course. These will be surveyed by Paul Staff and the inner track will be outlined with flags.

All preliminaries will be skated at one-half the championship distance. The qualifying and championship distances for the youngsters who report today are as follows:

Boys' midget	110 yards	220 yards
Boys' juvenile	220 yards	440 yards
Boys' junior	440 yards	Half mile
Girls' junior	220 yards	440 yards

The boys and girls who win preliminary races today will advance to the semi-finals. These will be run off tomorrow afternoon in conjunction with the trials in the higher age classes.

Skaters over 16 years will compete in tomorrow's preliminaries. These classes are: Boys' intermediate, 15 and 17 years of age; men's senior, 18 years and over; girls' intermediate, 16 and 17, and girls' senior, 18 and over. These skaters must register with the Illinois Skating association, which sanctions the Tribune Derbies. Those who are not registered may do so at the time they receive their numbers.

Bronze Buttons for All.

Each contestant will receive a souvenir bronze button, the last of such awards for the duration because of priorities. These buttons have been identified with the Silver Skates Derbies since inception of the meet in 1917. The races were established by the late Walter Eckersall, for whom the team trophy is named. This trophy will be defended tomorrow by the Catholic Youth organization.

PIRATES SELECT MUNCIE, IND., AS TRAINING CAMP

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 15 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates have selected Muncie, Ind., 379 miles from here, as the site for their spring training, President William E. Benswanger announced today. Municipally owned McCullough park, Ball State Teachers college athletic field and Muncie High school fieldhouse, the latter with a capacity of 7,500, will be available to the Pirates, Benswanger said.

DODGERS PICK BEAR MOUNTAIN.

New York, Jan. 15 [Special].—The Brooklyn Dodgers will do their spring training at Bear Mountain, N. Y., President Branch Rickey announced today. In case of inclement weather, arrangements have been made to use the West Point field house, four miles away. Bear Mountain is located on the banks of the Hudson river, 45 miles north of New York City.

Betty Bemis, Indianapolis Swim Star, Joins Waves

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 15 (AP).—Betty Bemis, star member of the Indianapolis Riviera club's national women's championship swimming team, was sworn in today as a member of the Waves.

BOWEN SUCCUMBS TO SOUTH SHORE IN PAIR OF GAMES

Englewood Divides with Morgan Park.

South Shore High school gained its third straight victories in the south section basketball race of the City league yesterday. Invading the Bowen court, the juniors piled up a 42 to 27 decision and the seniors scored a 47 to 28 triumph. Tom Whitmore paced the junior attack with 17 points and Herb Trowe led the seniors with 15.

Englewood divided with Morgan Park, losing its first junior contest of the season, 36 to 25, but reversing the verdict in the senior game, 33 to 27. Calumet overpowered Chicago Vocational, winning the junior game, 43 to 17, and the senior contest, 43 to 22. Hyde Park and Fenger divided, the latter capturing the senior game, 50 to 28, after Hyde Park annexed the junior contest, 38 to 30.

Roosevelt Wins Two.

In the north section Roosevelt beat Lake View twice on the Roosevelt court. The juniors breezed to a 40 to 28 victory and the seniors came out on top, 28 to 27, on Irv Deino's free throw.

Crane Tech went into a five way tie for first place in the senior division of the west section, defeating Washburne, 35 to 24, on the latter's floor. Red Weber and Abe Troop shared scoring honors for Crane with 12 points apiece.

STOCKS SET NEW HIGH IN FASTEST TRADE OF 1943

Market Is Broad, Gains Large.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP).—In the liveliest session of 1943, stocks today rose to the highest levels in more than a year. Market favorites advanced fractions to more than 3 points, and isolated issues registered larger gains.

Brokers had no single explanation for the extension of yesterday's late rally, but it was suggested that idle funds of larger investors are going into actual or potential dividend payers in an attempt to alleviate the biggest income tax bill in history. Low priced issues were neglected.

The list moved forward from the start, and activity was brisk at intervals. Most favorites finished at or near their tops, with steels, rails, rubbers, farm implements, motors, and specialties leading.

Rise Is Best of Year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 0.4 to 42.6, a peak since Oct. 6, 1941, in the sharpest upturn so far this year. Turnover of 998,250 shares, compared with 681,570 yesterday and was the largest since Dec. 31. The market was relatively broad, 510 individual issues being traded.

American Telephone added 1¾ points despite a drop in net earnings reported by the company. Profits for New York Central for 1942 were estimated at better than $7 per share but the stock gained only ½ to 11¼. Post-war prospects for the railroads restricted gains of the majority, altho Norfolk and Western moved ahead 4 and Santa Fe 1½.

Highs for 1942-'43 were reached by General Motors, which ended unchanged; Woolworth, J. I. Case, Oliver Farm, General Electric, Distillers-Seagrams, Davison Chemical, and Philco.

Among the few losers were Anaconda, American Can, Sears Roebuck, United States Gypsum, and North American. Oils, coppers, and utilities did little.

CHICAGO STOCKS ADVANCE.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as 16 stocks reached new highs for 1942-'43 on turnover of 33,000 shares.

Volume leader was Chicago corporation, closing unchanged. In the final half hour United States Steel and Walgreen were both up ⅛ from the New York close.

RAILS LEAD BONDS UP.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP). — A new burst of speed in the rails helped the bond market advance today after some sections faltered early. At the close a big majority of the active loans were up small fractions to about a point or more.

United States government loans and low yield corporates attracted fresh buying at around the highest levels of the last two years and the three Canadian government bonds offered yesterday in a 90 million dollar refunding program extended their gains.

NORTH WESTERN ROAD CONVERTS LOSS TO PROFIT

The Chicago and North Western railroad yesterday announced November net income was $1,157,333, against a deficit of $940,896 in November, 1941. Net income for the 11 months ended Nov. 30 was $9,190,324, compared with $1,810,826 in the corresponding period last year. Earnings reported yesterday follow:

10,000 Anaconda Workers Awarded $1 a Day Raise

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15 (AP).—A $1 a day increase in base pay for approximately 10,000 Anaconda Copper Mining company AFL and CIO employés in the Butte, Mont., area was reported today by Charles A. Graham, chairman of the nonferrous metals commission. He said the commission's wage increase decision was approved by James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization.

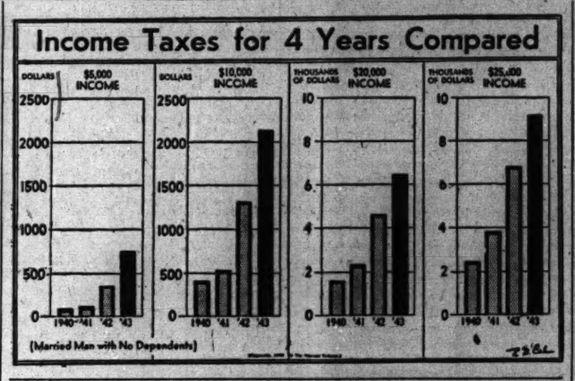
Income Taxes for 4 Years Compared



War Is Brake on Deisel Train Engine Output

The Electro-Motive corporation has orders for 120 Diesel electric locomotives on its books, but because of war work for the navy is unable to do much toward filling them, Frank H. Prescott, general manager, said yesterday during an inspection trip at the plant.

Altho more liberal treatment is expected from the war production board in the granting of authority to build railroad locomotives, the problem of obtaining materials is expected to continue acute, it was said.

Two years ago the vast plant was filled with passenger and freight locomotives in various stages of construction, but today only a few stand on the assembly tracks awaiting completion. Work is done on the engines only as space or materials become available.

Big Engines Do the Job.

Prescott said that the mileage records of the big Diesel electric freight locomotives built for the Santa Fe already have demonstrated their performance ability. The first 5,000 horsepower locomotive of the type has already traveled about 260,000 miles altho it was put into service only a couple of years ago. Four others have records of 225,000 miles. The Santa Fe has 17 of the big freight engines and they have been a vital factor in enabling the road to carry on its job of transporting troops and war freight more than half way across the continent.

Meantime, navy orders at the Electro-Motive plant have been more than doubled as the plant's big working force labors at high speed to provide equipment for the navy.

POWER STEPPED UP

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP).—Automotive engineers specializing in Diesel type engine production told the Society of Automotive Engineers today that power production efficiency of Diesels is being stepped up to aid the war and that hope for further increasing power output lies in super-charging.

Army officers and automotive engineers attending the closing session of the society's war engineering production meeting heard a detailed description of a super-charger developed in Sweden and applied to American engines.

Ronald B. Smith of the Elliott company, Jeannette, Pa., presenting findings prepared by himself, W. A. Wilson, also of the Elliott company, and Alf Lysolm of Augturbin, Sweden, said experiments and use have demonstrated the advantages of super-chargers of the mechanically driven, positive displacement compressor type.

BUCKET AND TUB SALES LIMITED TO DEALER STOCK

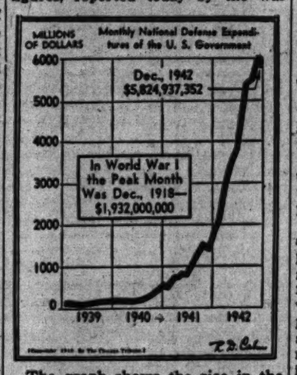
Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—The war production board today froze manufacturers' inventories of pails, buckets, and wash tubs, and made no provision for their release for civilian consumption after present dealer stocks are exhausted.

The order permits continued sale and supply to government war agencies and essential industries.

In another order, WPB directed dealers not to accept purchase orders for electric motors unless they bear ratings of AA-5 or higher.

COST OF WAR IN 1942 52 BILLIONS, OR 3.8 TIMES TOTAL OF 1941

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—United States war expenditures totaled 52 billion 46 million dollars in 1942, or 3.8 times the 1941 total. These figures, reported today by the war production board, cover expenditures by the treasury and the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries. Expenditures in December totaled $6,125,000,000, an increase of 0.2 per cent over November.



The graph shows the rise in the cost of war, based on monthly expenditures.

MEN'S AND BOYS' WEAR MARKET TO OPEN ON MONDAY

Chicago's first city-wide men's and boys' wear market will open Monday for a week's run, with apparel firms in the wholesale district, the downtown area, and the Merchandise Mart participating. Luncheons and clinics for buyers will be held at the mart Monday and Tuesday.

Meyer Kestnbaum.

Meyer Kestnbaum, president of Hart Schaffner & Marx, will speak at the Monday luncheon and seven executives will make short talks at the Tuesday meeting. They are David Mayer, president of Maurice L. Rothschild; F. C. Strodel, merchandise manager of The Fair; George Russell, president of John B. Stetson company; Sidney Natkin, advertising director of Mandel Brothers; Victor E. Johnson, merchandise manager of the boys' department of Wieboldt's; C. E. Gelb, president of Alfred Decker & Cohn, and Dr. Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank.

FURNITURE MART SHOW DRAWS 2D HIGHEST TOTAL

Attendance at the National Furniture and Home Furnishings market, the American Furniture mart said yesterday, totaled 11,556, the second highest two weeks' attendance in the history of the market. The record of 13,153 was set two years ago.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the mart, attributed the heavy attendance to the desire of stores thruout the nation to fill their depleted inventories. More stores were represented than ever before, he said.

Oil Muddle May Close Plants; Local Supply Plan Proposed

Storage Tanks Filled

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—A number of western Pennsylvania oil refineries may be forced to shut down because they are unable to ship their surplus gasoline either westward or to the gasoline starved eastern states, Rep. Leon H. Gavin [R., Pa.] said today.

The office of price administration restricts the refineries of McKean, Warren, Venango, and Butler counties from shipping gasoline west, he said, and the marketing division of the petroleum administrator so far has not given shipping instructions for moving the surplus east.

Gavin said the refineries, which produce lubricating oil, have their storage tanks filled with gasoline they get as a by-product and because they are unable to ship it and are prohibited from dumping it into streams or destroying it, they will be forced to shut down "because they can't help manufacturing gasoline when they refine oil."

The oil producing counties are included in the pleasure driving ban, he added, and gasoline is being transported in tank cars from Louisiana and Texas to Ohio, when it could be transported from Pennsylvania in trucks and the tank cars released for needed runs.

Applies to Middle West

A plan to help relieve the eastern oil and gasoline shortage and conserve transportation by dividing the middle west into a number of supply and distribution areas for petroleum products within which delivery would be localized was proposed yesterday by the petroleum industry supply and distribution committee for district two [middle west].

If the petroleum industry committee headed by Frank Phillips approves the plan it will be proposed to the petroleum coördinator.

Pipe lines would be utilized to maximum capacity while use of mobile transportation facilities such as tank cars, trucks, lake tankers and barges would be minimized, said C. R. Musgrave, manager for the supply and distribution committee.

Each area would receive its oil and gasoline from the nearest source of supply, and interarea shipments would be prohibited. Supplies would be balanced with rationed demand, and surpluses would be pushed to north and east areas of the middle west to facilitate movement east, said Musgrave.

He said a minimum of 1,000 of the 12,000 tank cars now used in district two would be released to the east if the plan is adopted.

Private Power Pool Rescues Co-op Again

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 15 [Special]. —Ten privately owned power companies again came to the rescue of a government subsidized electric cooperative recently and prevented the loss of 15 million pounds of aluminum needed for bombers and other war purposes, it was disclosed today.

The southwest power pool, as the 10 companies are known, supplied all of the aluminum plant's power requirements for three and one half days just before Christmas when the $3,750,000 transmission line of the federally financed Ark-La Electric cooperative was out of service.

The facts were laid before the federal power commission in a letter from C. S. Lynch, chairman of the pool's operating committee upon resumption of the FPC inquiry into rates charged for aluminum plant power by the Arkansas Power and Light company and other members of the pool.

Public Fund Waste Charged.

This was the second time the private companies had to support the coöp and, according to the testimony, substantiated the companies' claim that the coöp, in duplicating facilities already available, represented a waste of public funds.

Lynch said that if the pool had not taken up the entire power load instantly when the Ark-La facilities failed, one of the aluminum plant potlines would have "frozen" and two months would have been required to dig the metal from the pots and put them back into operation.

The companies contend they are able to provide all the power needed pending completion of a separate generating station under construction for the Defense Plant corporation, which also financed the aluminum plant. They maintain political considerations motivated the government's rural electrification administration in fostering Ark-La, and that their rates are fair, having been passed upon by the various state regulatory bodies.

State Supports Companies.

Supporting the companies' position, the Arkansas utilities commission entered the case today. It sought dismissal of the investigation on the basis that any disturbance of existing rates might prove injurious to war production.

In support of the contention that there is needless duplication of power lines, C. Hamilton Moses, president of Arkansas Power, testified that the pool was prepared to make available power from a larger area than that already tapped. He said this expansion had been blocked, however, when the war production board in April, 1942, halted work on a connecting line running between Ozark Beach, Mo., and Norfork, Ark.

Previous testimony brought out the charge that copper and other materials consumed in constructing duplicating power lines prevented use of the metal for more important war work.

OATS HOLD PART OF GAINS AFTER REACHING HIGHS

Grain prices advanced as much as 1 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday with all deliveries of oats selling at seasonal highs before profit taking stemmed the upturn. The advance was accompanied by reports that 750,000 bushels of domestic hard winter wheat had been sold for shipment to Mexico and that Canadian shippers of oats were experiencing difficulty in obtaining cars to send the grain to this country.

Despite extensive profit taking, closing prices showed gains of ⅛ to ¾ cent on wheat. Corn and oats gained ⅜ to 1¼ cents and rye was ½ cent higher.

BUSINESS GROUP SUPPORTS RUML TAXATION PLAN

The board of directors of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday voted an appeal to congress to "give serious consideration" to the adoption of the Ruml plan for income tax collection.

Association officials said that if the plan is adopted large sums in excess of the treasury's expectations will probably be collected at the source, and asserted the plan would eliminate the present income tax weakness arising from retroactive impositions.

They said the association's stand is based on a thoro study of the government's fiscal position, conducted by its committee on federal revenues and expenditures headed by Roy C. Osgood.

AM. TELEPHONE PROFIT FAILS TO COVER DIVIDEND

Quarter's Earnings Are $1.98 a Share.

American Telephone and Telegraph company reported yesterday net earnings in the final quarter of 1942 were equal to $1.98 a share on the capital stock, compared with net earnings equal to $2.31 a share in the last quarter of 1941. The preliminary report for the year 1942 showed earnings equal to $8.62 a share, against $10.01 a share in 1941. The dividend rate for many years has been $2.25 a quarter, or $9 annually per share of common stock.

With figures for December partly estimated, the company reported net income of $36,994,000 for the quarter ended Dec. 31 after federal income and excess profits taxes and reserve of $985,000, representing the unused portion of the excess profits tax credit. This credit amounted to $1,558,000, of which $873,000 was used currently for retirement of debt. In the final quarter of 1941 net income was $43,194,775.

Year's Net Income Declines.

For the year ended Dec. 31 the report showed net income of $161,081,000, compared with $186,974,735 in the preceding year. The excess profits tax credit for the year amounted to $4,479,000, of which $2,511,000 was used for debt retirement and $1,968,000 set up as a reserve.

American Telephone and its principal telephone subsidiaries included in the Bell system reported for three months ended Nov. 30, consolidated net income applicable to stock of American Telephone of $41,346,799 after charges, federal income, and excess profits taxes, minority interests and reserve of $1,419,000, representing the unused portion of the excess profits tax credit. This was equal to $2.21 a share on the capital stock. Of the $3,466,000 excess profits tax credit in that period the Bell system used $2,047,000 for debt retirement.

System's Profits Lower.

In the corresponding three months of 1941 consolidated net income of $47,166,581 was equal to $2.52 a capital share.

Net income for the system for 12 months ended Nov. 30 was $160,640,911, equal to $8.60 a capital share, compared with $194,943,624, or $10.43 a share in the corresponding period of 1941.

For the 12 months ended last Nov. 30 the system's excess profits tax credit amounted to $9,202,000, of which $5,327,000 was used for debt retirement and $3,875,000 as reserves.

YELLOW CAB CO. CUTS DECEMBER MILEAGE 5.4 PCT.

The Yellow Cab company reduced the mileage traveled by its cabs in December by 254,870 miles or 5.4 per cent below that of December, 1941, a report to Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area director for the OPA, showed yesterday. At the same time, the company raised its revenue mileage 24.36 per cent by widely reducing nonpaying mileage.

Cab company mileage comparisons follow:

Parisius Quits as Food Director in Controversy with Wickard

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—A controversy within the agriculture department over whether the agricultural adjustment administration or the farm security administration should dominate the new food production program was resolved today by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard in favor of the AAA.

The controversy led to the resignation of Herbert W. Parisius five weeks after his appointment as head of the food production administration. Wickard appointed as his successor M. Clifford Townsend, former Indiana governor and more recently AAA administrator.

M. Clifford Townsend. H. W. Parisius.

Parisius, formerly regional director of the FSA at Madison, Wis., was understood to have proposed a reorganization which would have transferred control of the state and county agricultural war boards from the AAA to the FSA.

The rôle of the FSA has been to assist low income farm families thru loans, relief grants and technical guidance.

Wickard, it was said, rejected the plan on the grounds that the present war board setup had done a good job and that changes would confuse farmers at a time when they and local units of the department needed to devote their full attention to production problems.

Townsend had been serving as associate director of the food production administration. J. B. Hutson, on leave of absence as president of the Commodity Credit corporation, and A. G. Brack, governor of the farm credit administration, were appointed associate directors under Townsend.

Called Vital to Output Gain.

Parisius later issued a statement saying that "an all purpose agency of credit, procurement and supervision" should be set up "to get not only the announced 1943 food production goals, but at least 20 per cent more."

"To accept 1943 food shortages as inevitable is to aid the defeatists and those who would welcome a negotiated peace," he said.

"Gov. Townsend can pass this miracle of a 20 per cent increase this crop year, weather permitting, if he will exclude from his organization those money lenders who look with two glass eyes at the working farmer needing help to do his full share in this war."

Stocks of Food in Cold Storage Show Big Drop

The severe drain on the country's food supplies during 1942 by the government and civilians was shown yesterday by the department of agriculture's report on Jan. 1 cold storage holdings. Reserves of butter, shell and frozen eggs, cheese, poultry, beef and lard decreased substantially from Jan. 1, 1942. Holdings of pork, lamb and mutton were larger.

The nation's cold storage reserves of butter on the first day of this month were 25,104,000 pounds, lowest for the date since 1933 and second lowest on record for a Jan. 1. A year ago storage stocks amounted to 114,436,000 pounds and the five year [1938-'42] average was 76,624,000 pounds.

Shell Egg Supplies Low.

Shell eggs at 259,000 cases of 30 dozens each also were the smallest for the date since 1933 and second lowest on record. A year ago holdings totaled 549,000 cases. American cheese and poultry reserves were the third largest for a Jan. 1 despite large declines from last year.

Cold storage holdings of meat were regarded as having little significance to civilian consumers because of the vast amounts either owned by the government or earmarked for lend-lease and the army and navy. The general increase in meat reserves above a year ago was attributed to record levels of production and restricted sales to consumers. Butter reserves likewise are largely government controled.

Holdings of Meats Gain.

Holdings of all meats on Jan. 1 rose to 736,557,000 pounds, largest since June 1 last year. A year ago reserves amounted to 716,597,000 pounds. Pork supplies in storage were 488,333,000 pounds, heaviest since July 1. Reserves of beef totaled 129,019,000 pounds, well above average. The decrease from the 135,478,000 pounds of a year ago despite peak output in 1942 was not considered important since the bulk of frozen beef is for canning purposes and, unlike pork and lamb, not for fresh distribution.

Lamb and mutton holdings of 35,058,000 pounds were the largest since April, 1921, and well above a year ago and the average. The increase was attributed to lend-lease demand.

Kentucky to Chicago Coal Rate Set at $2.30 Maximum

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—The interstate commerce commission ruled today that the rate on coal from western Kentucky mines to Chicago should not exceed $2.30 a ton plus the increases authorized last March for the duration of the war. The commission held that the rate of $2.40 was unreasonable.

GOVERNMENT ENTERS COW TRADING FIELD TO SUPPORT MILK OUTPUT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15 (AP).—In an effort to hold milk production to the highest possible level the agriculture department announced today it would buy and resell dairy cows to prevent their being sold for slaughter. The department said that in some areas, particularly in the Chicago, New York, and Kansas City milksheds and surrounding territories, dairy cows were being sold for slaughter because of labor shortages and other difficulties.

[Liquidation of cows and heifers by farmers during November was second largest on record for that month.]

Cows bought by the department will be sold to farmers having feed, labor, and other facilities for caring for additional cows. Sales will be on easy terms to farmers needing credit.

HOG PRICES GAIN ON DECLINES IN FARM SHIPMENTS

Lighter supplies of hogs resulted in a price rally at the Chicago stockyards yesterday that replaced about 5 to 10 cents of Thursday's losses. Both the top and average gained 5 cents a hundred pounds, to $14.90 and $14.65, respectively, only 10 to 20 cents below the 23 year January peaks established earlier this week.

Despite the continued record breaking slaughter of lambs, prices equaled the highest in 14 years. Best wool lambs again reached $16.15. Cattle prices changed little.

$3.01 a Hundred for Milk in December 3 Year High

All producers under the Chicago federal milk marketing order will receive a uniform blended price of $3.01 per 100 pounds for their deliveries during December, A. W. Colebank, market administrator, announced yesterday. This is the highest blended price received since the order became effective in September, 1939, and is 7 cents per 100 pounds above the preceding month, 41 cents above December, 1941, $1.07 more than December, 1940, and $1.26 more than December, 1939.

MARKETING NOW REVERSES PRIOR SALES PROBLEM

Dr. Phillip M. Hauser, assistant director of the bureau of census, told the American Management association meeting in the Drake hotel yesterday that the present problem of marketing is one of restricting rather than stimulating distribution.

Restriction of distribution calls for drastic readjustments among marketing agencies, he said, and sacrifices "would be amply repaid by a peaceful and prosperous post-war order."

SENATE INQUIRY PROBES RUBBER PROGRAM FLAWS

Ask Why Gary Plant Was Abandoned.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Why was the Gary, Ind., aviation gasoline and synthetic rubber project abandoned after 3½ million dollars was spent by the government in preliminary work?

Who is responsible for new automobile tires being exported to five South American countries?

Sen. E. H. Willis.

How much longer can America's petroleum reserves sustain the present rate of consumption, including the aviation gasoline and synthetic rubber production programs?

Raised in Senate Inquiry.

These queries were raised before a senate subcommittee investigating synthetic rubber production today in a session distinguished more by its questions than by its answers.

Sen. Raymond E. Willis [R., Ind.] inquired about the Gary project. The witness, Bruce K. Brown, from the office of Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes, said the construction was halted in a general revision of the aviation gas and synthetic rubber programs.

"Was the equipment designed for this job then transferred to a California project?" Willis asked.

"I believe some of it was," Brown replied.

Asks If Corcoran Was Involved.

"Did Thomas Corcoran [former member of a White House kitchen cabinet] represent the California interests?" the senator continued.

"I don't know."

"I'm informed the government has spent a total of 60 million dollars on armament projects in the Chicago metropolitan area that are not being completed," Willis commented. "It's demoralizing to those contributing money for war."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] inquired about the export of tires from the United States to Latin America.

"Who was this master strategist?" he asked, "Who decided to send tires, needed here and on the battle front, to countries not in the war? Who decided to give tires now for rubber we hope to get later?"

Doesn't Know, Witness Says.

The witness said he didn't know. The Republican from Indiana and the Democrat from Montana joined in inquiries about the drain on America's petroleum reserves.

"I'm no expert on the subject," said Brown, a former director of the Standard Oil of Indiana, "but I can tell you that the industry, too, is concerned by the decreasing [petroleum] yield."

"In the permanent interest of the country, don't you think we should seek another source for rubber?" asked Willis.

Brown replied that the extra crude required for rubber production is an inconsequential fraction of total petroleum requirements, and he cited figures substantiating this opinion.

"If the costs are comparable," Wheeler commented, "it should be a national policy in rubber manufacture to use grain, which is a replaceable supply, rather than petroleum, which is irreplaceable."

Brown, replying to Wheeler, said he thought the synthetic rubber plants will continue to operate after the war and that the demand for high octane gasoline will continue, sustained by global air freight lines and by light weight, high powered automobiles.

TAXES OF DECEASED.

How is the income tax return of a deceased person computed? Are there any changes in the 1942 law governing income and deductions of decedents?—F. B. G.

Answer: The tax return of a deceased individual is prepared by the representative of the estate and filed at the regular time. The administrator of the estate must file two returns, one for the deceased up to time of death, and another for the estate starting with the date of death.

The deceased person's return is considered the return for the entire year and receives full personal exemption, no matter when he died. If the deceased is married he receives deduction as such for the portion of the year in which he was alive, but the exemption for the remainder of the year is figured as that of a single person.

Under the old tax law the income tax return of the deceased had to include all amounts accrued up to date of death, such as fees and notes outstanding. The decedent was even required to have included income which was indeterminate at time of death.

The new law provides that the deceased individual's return be on the same basis as previous returns. Any income which is not included in his return is to be taxed on the income of the estate or beneficiaries.

Also, the new law requires the return to include only income actually accruable at date of death. The new law makes it possible to claim a refund on taxes paid under the old regulations. Claims for refund must be filed within three years after return was filed or two years after the tax was paid.

CARPENTER STEEL.

What are the principal products of the Carpenter Steel company? What is its capitalization? What dividends have been paid on common stock for the last five years, and what is its price range?—C. F. T.

Answer: Carpenter Steel company, Reading, Pa., produces high grade specialty steel, such as simple carbon, alloy, high speed, and stainless steels. Revenues are derived from sale of steel bars and strip, royalties on patents, and sale of ingots to other manufacturers. Production during 1942 was exclusively for war work.

Sole capitalization consists of 360,000 shares of $5 par common stock. Dividends paid for the last five years were 40 cents in 1938, $1.30 in 1939, $2.75 in 1940, $2.50 in 1941 and 1942. The stock ranged in price on the New York Stock exchange from 12⅜ to 33 from 1938 thru 1942.

People and Events

The annual Chicago World Trade conference, sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Export Managers club of Chicago, will be held Feb. 8 at the Hotel La Salle, officials said yesterday. Most of the conference will be devoted to a consideration of governmental regulations with which foreign traders must comply.

Completing a railroad career that began more than 42 years ago, Joseph Weidel, system valuation engineer of the Santa Fe railroad, announced his retirement yesterday. He began work with the railroad as a chainman and participated in the building of many of the road's lines. He has lived in Chicago since he became evaluation engineer in 1915.

J. F. Forsyth has been elected vice president in charge of the central division of the Best Foods, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago. A native of Chicago, Forsyth started with the firm as an office boy.

'DESERT SONG'
with Marion Claire
TONIGHT at 8

With our own forces now battling in North Africa, special significance is attached to W-G-N's presentation tonight of "The Desert Song," Sigmund Romberg's immortal operetta of the conflict between hard-riding desert raiders of Morocco and the French Foreign Legion. Lead roles will be sung by Marion Claire, soprano prima donna of the "Chicago Theater of the Air" series, and Thomas L. Thomas, Metropolitan Opera baritone. Tune in this outstanding musical treat. W-G-N at 8 p. m.

ARMY-NAVY HOUSE PARTY
11:00 A. M. TODAY

Featuring members of the armed forces as guests, W-G-N's "Army-Navy House Party" brings an unusual variety of fun and musical entertainment to its many morning listeners. Among the nationwide stars to be heard will be Ruth Owens, soprano; George Wheeler, tenor; Frank Cronin at the console, and Leo Egan, master of ceremonies. Brighten the day by tuning in this half hour of musical merriment designed especially for our service men. W-G-N at 11 a. m.

DEATHLESS DEER

By Neysa McMein and Alicia Patterson

WELCOME TO MY HUMBLE ABODE, MY PRINCESS
YOU ARE THE ONE WHO BROUGHT ME HERE. I SCARCELY RECOGNIZED YOU IN YOUR CHANGE OF CLOTHES
WHAT IS THIS?
IN THIS LAND, WE CALL THEM COCKTAILS
IT IS QUITE REFRESHING! IS IT MADE FROM THE GRAPE?
NO! OF THE GRAIN, MY LADY
THIRD COCKTAIL
I LIKE THIS COCK-A-TAIL! MORE AND MORE. I WILL INTRODUCE IT INTO EGYPT
HOW AMUSING TO HAVE A REVOLVING ROOM
I FEAR, OH, PRINCESS, IT IS THE COCKTAILS THAT ARE REVOLVING
YOU WILL FEEL BETTER AFTER WE DINE
SHALL I SERVE THE CHAMPAGNE, MASTER?
NO. THE COCKTAILS HAVE ALREADY DONE THEIR WORK
NOW THAT MY STRANGE GIDDINESS HAS PASSED··· WHY HAVE YOU BROUGHT ME HERE?
WHY DON'T WE POSTPONE SUCH TALK UNTIL TOMORROW?
···AND HOW DARED YOU BRING ME HERE IN SUCH A FASHION? YOU FORGET THAT I AM DEER, PRINCESS OF EGYPT.
YOU MEAN YOU WERE, MY PRINCESS
HOW DARE YOU SAY "WERE" TO ME, DAUGHTER OF THE SUN?
I AM THE MIGHTIEST RULER WHO EVER SAT ON PHARAOH'S THRONE
BUT THERE WERE TIMES WHEN THE CROWN GREW HEAVY ON MY HEAD··· I WELL REMEMBER··
IT WAS A SULTRY SUMMER EVENING, 3000 YRS. AGO
FIE! HORUS, MY GUILTY ONE! TY, THE HIGH PRIEST, IS VERY ANGRY. YOU HAVE AGAIN STOLEN HIS GOLDEN FISH!
A HANDSOME YOUNG GARDENER CATCHES DEER'S EYE
SUMMON YON WORKMAN. I WOULD SPEAK WITH HIM.
WHAT IS YOUR NAME AND WHERE DO YOU COME FROM?
THEY CALL ME PARA. I AM A CAPTIVE FROM SYRIA
PERHAPS I WILL HAVE ROOM FOR YOU IN MY TRAIN. THE HIGH STEWARD WILL INFORM YOU OF MY DECISION TOMORROW
PARA ROSE RAPIDLY IN DEER'S HOUSEHOLD UNTIL HE ATTAINED THE HIGH POSITION OF CUP BEARER···
HE ACCOMPANIED HER WHEN SHE WENT HUNTING
HAVE PATIENCE, OH HORUS, MY ROYAL FALCON. TODAY, WE GO FOR GAZELLE. BUT TOMORROW YOU MAY HUNT THE WILD PIGEON
--AND PLAYED FOR HER WHEN SHE WAS BORED
NEXT WEEK--PARA TELLS HIS STORY

MRS. MARY J. MURRAY
426 S. OAK PARK AVE.
OAK PARK, ILL.

Floral arrangement by one of Chicago's leading florists, Fred S. Fredericks
Presented by Dean Milk Company to Mrs. Mary J. Murray in acknowledgment of her voluntary testimonial published in this advertisement

"Dean's is certainly a hit at our house. Our four growing children never seem to get enough of it."

That's the testimony of Mrs. Mary J. Murray, Oak Park. And what happened in Mrs. Murray's family is happening in tens of thousands of families in and around Chicago. "We all," Mrs. Murray says further, "like Dean's Milk better for its richer quality and fresher flavor. I also prefer the paper bottles, because they pack more compactly in my ice box."

* * *

When are you going to change to Dean's? Don't put it off. Start today enjoying this super-value milk. Dean's is bottled in the country with all the cream left in. It is a richer, creamier homogenized milk, the product of the most advanced, scientific dairy craft; the finest milk the market affords, and now selling for the low price of 2 quarts for twenty-seven cents.
